AGL Resources - Employee Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs)

1. What did AGL Resources announce today?

We announced that AGL Resources and Nicor will combine in an $8.6 billion transaction to create a leading U.S. gas distribution company.

2. What can you tell us about Nicor?

Nicor is headquartered in Naperville, Illinois, and provides gas utilities to 2.2 million customers. In addition, Nicor has several non-regulated businesses, including an energy trading and marketing business.

3. Why does this combination make sense for AGL Resources?

As a result of this transaction, we will have increased scale and greater diversity in both our regulated operations and unregulated businesses. The assets of Nicor fit with AGL Resources remarkably well. On the regulated side of the business, we will be virtually doubling the number of customers we serve. On the unregulated side of the business, we are adding a set of complementary and diverse businesses.

By combining with Nicor we will be able to establish a platform for growth that is superior to what either company could achieve on its own, resulting in substantial value creation for you, our employees, as well as our customers, shareholders, and the communities we serve.

4. How will this transaction benefit employees?

By combining with Nicor, we will create a company that will provide employees with exciting opportunities as part of a larger organization. Of course, until the transaction is complete, our two companies will continue to operate separately and it will remain business as usual. We have assembled an integration planning team to address how we can best utilize each company's strengths to bring the two together as seamlessly as possible. We will keep you informed as we move through the process.

As we do every day, we should all focus on continuing to deliver great service and outstanding results to our customers and shareholders.

5. Will this announcement have any impact on my job? Will there be any layoffs?

This transaction is not based on cost savings. In fact, by combining with Nicor, we will create a company that will provide employees with exciting opportunities as part of a larger organization.

6. How will customers benefit from this transaction?

As you know, we have served our customers with safe, reliable natural gas for more than 150 years. Our customers will continue to enjoy the same level of service provided by the same people who serve them today. In fact, by sharing best practices and with the benefits of greater scale and scope, the combined company will be able to serve our customers better and more efficiently.

7. What will the combined company be named? What about the operating companies?

The combined company will be known as AGL Resources. However, all utility subsidiaries will continue to operate under their current names.

8. Where will the combined company be headquartered?

Following the merger, AGL Resources, expected to become a Fortune 500 company, will maintain its corporate headquarters in Atlanta, Georgia and locate its newly expanded gas distribution headquarters in Naperville, Illinois.

9. What will happen to the AGL Resources' distribution headquarters?

When the transaction is complete, we will establish a new distribution operations headquarters in Naperville, Illinois a suburb of Chicago. Approximately 2.2 million of our 4.5 million utility operations customers will be located in the northern third of the State of Illinois. The local leadership teams for each franchise – including Atlanta Gas Light, Chattanooga Gas, Elizabethtown Gas, Elkton Gas, Florida City Gas and Virginia Natural Gas – will remain located within the franchises.

10. Who will lead the new Company?

Mr. Somerhalder, will continue in the same capacity as chairman, president and chief executive officer of AGL Resources. The AGL Resources Board of Directors will include four directors from Nicor.

11. Will there be a new management team in the combined company?

AGL Resources' management team has great respect for the leadership of Nicor. We will continue to work closely with them as we move forward. In the near term, a transition team comprised of senior executives from both companies, and reporting to the CEOs of both companies, will lead the integration effort.

12. What can you tell us about Nicor's shipping business?

The tropical shipping business is a good, well-run operation. There are some commonalities between it and our utility operations. It's an asset-based business focused on outstanding customer service and, like our utility operations, it's a low-cost provider.

13. What are the next steps? How long before the transaction closes? What approvals are required?

We expect the merger to be completed in the second half of 2011.

The merger is conditioned upon, among other things, the approval of shareholders of both companies, approval by the Illinois Commerce Commission, the expiration or termination of any applicable waiting period under the Hart-Scott-Rodino Antitrust Improvements Act of 1976 and approval by the Federal Communications Commission.

We have assembled an integration planning team to address how we can best utilize each company's strengths to bring the two together as seamlessly as possible.

14. What should I say if I'm contacted by media, financial community, or other third parties about the transaction?

It is likely that today's news will lead to increased interest in AGL Resources, and it is important we speak with one voice on this matter. If you receive any inquiries from the media or other interested parties, please refer them to Tami Gerke at (404) 558-2307.

15. What should employees expect over the coming months?

Until the transaction is completed, we will continue to operate as a separate company and it will remain business as usual. All employees should remain focused on our customers' needs and delivering safe and reliable service.

We will do our best to keep you informed throughout the integration process. If you have any additional questions, we encourage you to send them to aglr-nicor-questions@aglresources.com.
