National Australia Bank and Ion Limited

The National Australia Bank has an exposure in relation to Australian auto parts company, Ion Limited, whose Board has today appointed Mr Colin Nicol of McGrath Nicol + Partners as voluntary administrator for the company and its Australian subsidiaries.

The National was part of a syndicate with four other banks to provide funding for Ion. The total exposure for the National is approximately $135 million, including approximately $100 million in syndicated unsecured credit.

The National will be liaising with the voluntary administrator, its fellow syndicate members and other creditors to better understand the administrator s options and proposals for any potential restructuring of the Ion Group and the potential impacts on the National s position (including the need to make specific provision for its exposure).
