ISS and Glass Lewis Recommend August Technology Shareholders Vote in Favor of Rudolph Technologies and August Technology Proposed Merger

BLOOMINGTON, MN February 3, 2006 - August Technology Corporation (NASDAQ: AUGT), a leading supplier of inspection and defect analysis solutions for the microelectronic industries, announced today that Institutional Shareholder Services Inc. (ISS) and Glass Lewis have recommended that August Technology shareholders vote in favor of the proposed merger with Rudolph Technologies, Inc. August Technology will be holding a special meeting of shareholders on February 15, 2006 for its shareholders of record on January 5, 2006. ISS and Glass Lewis are widely recognized as the nation's leading independent proxy voting and corporate governance advisory firms. Their analyses and recommendations are relied upon by hundreds of major institutional investment firms, mutual funds and fiduciaries throughout the United States.

Jeff O Dell, Chairman and CEO of August Technology Corporation, said, "We are very pleased that ISS and Glass Lewis, both highly respected and independent proxy voting advisory firms, support the Rudolph Technologies/August Technology merger. The recommendations of ISS and Glass Lewis reaffirm our belief that the merger between August Technology and Rudolph Technologies makes sense and that we are on the right track to build a leading global competitor in both metrology and macro defect inspection.

On June 28, 2005, Rudolph signed a definitive merger agreement with August Technology. The transaction was unanimously approved by the board of directors of both companies and received notification on July 9, 2005 of early termination of the waiting period under the Hart-Scott-Rodino Antitrust Improvements Act of 1976. On January 17, 2006, the SEC declared the S-4 Registration Statement concerning the merger agreement effective. The merger requires approval by each company's shareholders. Rudolph Technologies and August Technology have scheduled their respective shareholders meeting to vote on the merger on February 15, 2006 and expect to close shortly thereafter.

About August Technology

August Technology's automated inspection and data analysis solutions provide critical product and process enhancing information, which enables microelectronic device manufacturers to drive down costs and time to market. Forward-Looking Statements

This press release contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995, including the statements that (i) we are on the right track to build a leading global competitor and (ii) Rudolph and August Technology expect to close the merger shortly after February 15, 2006. August Technology wishes to take advantage of the safe harbor provided for by the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 and you are cautioned that actual events or results may differ materially from the expectations expressed in such forward-looking statements as a result of various factors, including risks and uncertainties, many of which are beyond the control of August Technology. Factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from the expectations expressed in such forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to: (1) the merger agreement and the transactions contemplated thereby may not be approved by the companies' shareholders; (2) conditions to the closing of the transaction may not be satisfied; (3) the businesses of Rudolph and August may not be integrated successfully, which may result in the combined company not operating as effectively and efficiently as expected or such integration may be more difficult, time-consuming or costly than expected; (4) expected combination benefits from the merger may not be fully realized or realized within the expected time frame; (5) revenues following the merger may be lower than expected; (6) costs, customer loss and business disruption, including, without limitation, difficulties in maintaining relationships with employees, customers, clients or suppliers, may be greater than expected following the consummation of the merger, or the effects of purchase accounting may be different from the companies' expectations; (7) the credit ratings of the combined company or its subsidiaries may be different from what the companies expect; (8) the businesses of the companies may suffer as a result of uncertainty surrounding the transaction; (9) the industry may be subject to future regulatory or legislative actions that could adversely affect the companies; and (10) changes in or an inability to execute our business strategy. August Technology cannot guarantee future results, levels of activity, performance, or achievements. Additional factors that may affect the future results of Rudolph and August Technology are set forth in their respective Form 10-K reports for the year ended December 31, 2004 and subsequent filings of Form 10-Q and Form 8-K with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), which are available at <http://www.sec.gov>, the SEC's website, and at the companies' websites, which are <http://www.rudolphtech.com> and <http://www.augusttech.com>, respectively. These factors are updated from time to time through the filing of reports and registration statements with the SEC.

Additional Information and Where to Find It
