Cameco Reports Operation of Boroo Gold Mine Temporarily Suspended by Centerra

Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, Canada, June 14, 2006

Cameco Corporation reports that Centerra Gold Inc. announced today that it has temporarily suspended operations at its Boroo gold mine in Mongolia as a precaution in response to political demonstrations at the minesite.

Cameco owns 53% of Centerra Gold which operates and owns 95% of the Boroo gold mine.

About 100 protesters staged a demonstration at the Boroo minesite today. The demonstrators represent the Popular Party, a small Mongolian political party that has recently been criticized by the Mongolian cabinet for its statements with respect to the Boroo mine.

The Mongolian cabinet stated that Boroo conducts its operations in accordance with Mongolian law and that the demands of the Popular Party are illegitimate and unconstitutional.

Centerra has a history of co-operative relations with the Government of Mongolia and intends to work closely with police and governmental officials to ensure the prompt resumption of normal mine operations.

Centerra is a growth-oriented, gold company focused on acquiring, exploring, developing and operating gold properties primarily in Central Asia, the former Soviet Union and other emerging markets. Centerra is a leading North American gold producer and the largest Western-based gold producer in Central Asia and the former Soviet Union.

Centerra's shares trade on the Toronto Stock Exchange under the symbol CG. The company is based in Toronto, Canada.

Cameco, with its head office in Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, is the world's largest uranium producer. The company's uranium products are used to generate electricity in nuclear energy plants around the world, providing one of the cleanest sources of energy available today. Cameco's shares trade on the Toronto and New York stock exchanges.

Statements contained in this news release, which are not historical facts, are forward-looking statements that involve risks, uncertainties and other factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from those expressed or implied by such forward-looking statements. Factors that could cause such differences, without limiting the generality of the following, include: the impact of the sales volume of fuel fabrication services, uranium, conversion services, electricity generated and gold; volatility and sensitivity to market prices for uranium, conversion services, electricity in Ontario and gold; competition; the impact of change in foreign currency exchange rates and interest rates; imprecision in decommissioning, reclamation, reserve and tax estimates; environmental and safety risks including increased regulatory burdens and long-term waste disposal; unexpected geological or hydrological conditions; adverse mining conditions; political risks arising from operating in certain developing countries; a possible deterioration in political support for nuclear energy; changes in government regulations and policies, including tax and trade laws and policies; demand for nuclear power; replacement of production; failure to obtain or maintain necessary permits and approvals from government authorities; legislative and regulatory initiatives regarding deregulation, regulation or restructuring of the electric utility industry in Ontario; Ontario electricity rate regulations; weather and other natural phenomena; ability to maintain and further improve positive labour relations; operating performance, disruption in the operation of, and life of the company's and customers' facilities; decrease in electrical production due to planned outages extending beyond their scheduled periods or unplanned outages; success of planned development projects; terrorism; sabotage; and other development and operating risks.

Although Cameco believes that the assumptions inherent in the forward-looking statements are reasonable, undue reliance should not be placed on these statements, which only apply as of the date of this report. Cameco disclaims any intention or obligation to update or revise any forward-looking statement, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise.
