Item 8.01. Other Events

On January 10, 2005, Potlatch Corporation issued the following press release:

Spokane, WA Potlatch Corporation (NYSE:PCH) announced today that its Board of Directors will propose to stockholders an amendment to the company's certificate of incorporation to eliminate time-phased voting rights for Potlatch's common stock.

The company's stockholders will vote on the proposal at the Potlatch 2005 Annual Meeting to be held in May 2005.

Currently, the company's certificate of incorporation provides for time-phased voting, in which stockholders who beneficially own their shares for at least 48 consecutive calendar months are entitled to four votes per share and other stockholders are entitled to one vote per share, subject to certain exceptions and conditions. Time-phased voting will apply to the stockholder vote on the proposal. Passage will require the vote of a majority of the voting power of the outstanding common stock. If the company's stockholders approve the proposed amendment, all stockholders would be entitled to one vote per share on all matters.

The Board has periodically considered the merits of time-phased voting since it was adopted by our stockholders in 1985, said Penn Siegel, Potlatch Chairman and Chief Executive Officer. The Board believes that time-phased voting has served our company well in helping to place the focus on the long-term best interests of Potlatch and its stockholders and in protecting the company's stockholders against unfair takeover attempts during the cyclical downturns inherent in our business. Although these are important considerations, the Board acknowledges the sentiment, particularly among institutional stockholders, in favor of a one-share, one-vote system. In reviewing the advantages and disadvantages of time-phased voting again this year, the Board has decided that this is an appropriate time to propose the elimination of time-phased voting.

Mr. Siegel further noted that, the Board believes that it can achieve its objective to protect stockholders against unfair takeover attempts through other means such as through the adoption of a stockholder rights plan, which the Board currently plans to implement if stockholders vote to approve the proposal.

Potlatch is a diversified forest products company with timberlands in Arkansas, Idaho and Minnesota.
