Key Priorities 2012

2014

Return Tempur North America to growth and improve operating margins

Revamped entire product offering (2012-2014) and improved retailer economics (August 2012)

Sales growth resumed and margins expanded significantly in 2H-2014 and expected to further expand in 2015

Maintain Sealy sales growth momentum and margins

Sales growth had just begun prior to the acquisition in 2013, and growth continued in 2013 and accelerated in 2014

Margins, however, declined in 2014 and are a primary area of focus in 2015 and beyond

Integrate Sealy

Organizational integration with Sealy essentially complete in North America

Cost synergies realized from the acquisition are ahead of our projections

Capitalizing on strategic growth initiatives of complementary brand and product portfolio

Position International business for future growth

Acquired Sealy brand rights in Europe (ex. UK) and Japan, and commenced roll-out in 3Q 2014

(Weakness in Central Europe affected overall International performance)

Reinvested A Significant Portion Of Cost Synergies Realized

From Sealy Acquisition To Support These Key Priorities
