Item 2.06. Material Impairments.

In connection with our global rebranding initiative, on April 21, 2015, Nasdaq's board of directors approved a change of Nasdaq's legal name from The NASDAQ OMX Group, Inc. to Nasdaq, Inc., pending regulatory approval. In connection with this action, we decided to discontinue the use of the OMX trade name and recorded a pre-tax, non-cash impairment charge of $119 million. The impairment charge did not impact the company's consolidated cash flows, liquidity or capital resources. Nasdaq does not expect that this impairment charge will result in material future cash expenditures.

The matters described herein may contain forward-looking statements that are made under the Safe Harbor provisions of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. We caution that these statements are not guarantees of future performance. Actual results may differ materially from those expressed or implied in the forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements involve a number of risks, uncertainties or other factors beyond Nasdaq's control.
