On July 22, 2015, Discover Financial Services (the Company) announced that its subsidiaries, Discover Bank, The Student Loan Corporation and Discover Products, Inc. (the Discover Subsidiaries), agreed to a consent order with the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (the Bureau) resolving the Bureau's investigation with respect to certain student loan servicing practices. The Bureau's investigation into these practices has been previously disclosed by the Company, initially in February 2014. The order requires the Discover Subsidiaries to provide redress of not less than $16 million to consumers who may have been affected by the activities described in the order related to certain collection calls, overstatements of minimum payment due amounts in billing statements, provision of interest paid information to consumers, and regulatory disclosures with respect to loans acquired in default. In addition, the Discover Subsidiaries are required to pay a $2.5 million civil money penalty to the Bureau. In the first quarter of 2015, adequate provision was made to cover these costs in the Company's financial statements. The Discover Subsidiaries agreed to submit to the Bureau within 90 days a redress plan and a compliance plan designed to ensure that the Discover Subsidiaries provide redress and otherwise comply with the terms of the order. This description of the order is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of the order, which is included as Exhibit 99.1 hereto and incorporated by reference into this Item 8.01.
