To Our Valued Shareholders

David S. DeVito

President, Chief Executive Officer and Director

Dear Valued Shareholder,

TCW is pleased to present the 2016 annual report for TCW Strategic Income Fund, Inc. (TSI or the Fund). TSI is a multi-asset class closed-end fund managed by TCW Investment Management Company LLC and is listed on the New York Stock Exchange. For 2016, the shareholders of the Fund realized a 6.56% return on investment (including distributions) and the Fund's net asset value per share (NAV) increased by 4.49% (i.e., returns of the underlying assets), while the Fund's custom benchmark gained 8.91%. The Fund's price-based return exceeded the NAV-based return during the year which helped narrow the discount between NAV and share price from 9.6% at the beginning of the year to 8.3% at December 31, 2016. Annualized price-based performance for the trailing 3-Year period of 4.66% was in-line with the benchmark, while annualized price-based returns for the trailing 5-Year period and longer remained well ahead of the Fund's benchmark.

In 2016, the Fund declared quarterly dividend distributions of $0.0487, $0.0520, $0.0520, and $0.0600 per share, as well as short-term and long-term capital gain distributions of $0.036 and $0.029, respectively, per share.

(1) Custom Benchmark: 15% S&P 500 Index with Income, 15% Merrill Lynch Convertible Index, 45% Bloomberg Barclays Capital Aggregate Bond Index, 25% Citi High Yield Cash Pay Index. Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Current performance may be lower or higher than that quoted. The market value and NAV of the Fund's shares will fluctuate with market conditions. Returns shown do not reflect the deduction of taxes that a shareholder would pay on the Fund's distributions. You should not draw any conclusions about the Fund's performance from the amount of the quarterly distribution or from the terms of the Fund's distribution policy.

(3) Inception date of the Fund.

This past year was full of surprises with market sentiment largely falling into two distinct phases. The first was marked by global growth concerns, a collapse in commodity prices, and continued efforts by central banks to stimulate their respective economies. Against this backdrop, rates fell with the 10-Year Treasury yield dropping by nearly 90 basis points from beginning of the year levels to a multi-year low of 1.35% in mid-July after the UK unexpectedly voted to leave the EU. The market consensus view that lackluster growth and low rates would persist into the foreseeable future was reinforced by ongoing global central bank accommodation which served to suppress both volatility and rates instead of boosting economic growth in any meaningful way. By mid-2016, these policies had created a record $13 trillion in negative yielding debt. However, improving U.S. economic data and rising inflation expectations towards the end of summer drove rates higher, marking the second phase. The most notable change during this phase and the rest of the year was the significant turnaround in market sentiment following the unexpected results of the U.S. election as investors seemed to price in only the upside potential from the new administration. Expectations for better growth and inflation that could result from fiscal stimulus, de-regulation, and infrastructure spending caused rates to lurch higher and the dollar to strengthen to the highest level in over 10 years.

Keeping pace with the about-face in market sentiment over the year, the Fed increased its target range for rates by 25 basis points in December and upgraded the forecast for the number of hikes in 2017 from two to three. Markets largely expected the hike, particularly given the improvements in the labor market and higher inflation data from the third quarter. However, market indicators, namely Fed Funds futures, do not yet reflect the risk that a fiscal boost to the economy at this point could drive inflation higher and prompt the Fed to accelerate the pace of rate increases beyond what they projected at the December Federal Open Market Committee meeting.

Throughout the year, persistent demand for yield in this low rate environment provided support to credit markets beyond what fundamental realities would seem to dictate. Despite a brief sell-off in the first quarter, credit spreads narrowed across all sectors over the year. Investment grade corporates struggled in the fourth quarter as rates rose rapidly, but returned 6.1% for the year, as commodity and energy related sectors continued to stage an impressive comeback from 2015. High yield led fixed income returns with a total return of over 17% for the year. However, in stark contrast with the yearly returns for the corporate market, leverage reached new highs while the default rate for high yield companies ended the year at approximately 7% in terms of issuers. Among securitized products, non-agency mortgage-backed securities (MBS) had another strong year, as higher home prices and faster loan amortization improved borrowers' loan-to-value ratios allowing more borrowers to prepay their loans. Agency MBS, the only sector to lag Treasuries, was weighted down by the November sell-off in rates which overtook year-to-date gains. Commercial MBS (CMBS) gained 3.3% and saw excess returns over Treasuries of more than 235 basis points, led by non-agency issues as higher issuance in the agency CMBS space resulted in the sector's relative underperformance. Finally, the asset-backed securities (ABS) sector was supported by the significant outperformance of student loans, as the largely concluded rating agency review of bonds at risk yielded a much smaller number of downgrades than initially anticipated. On the basis of the strong performance of the corporate sector, the Bloomberg Barclays Aggregate Index returned 2.7% for the year.

Performance for the Fund lagged the Custom Benchmark in 2016. The defensive duration position of the Fund weighed on returns over the first half of the year as interest rates generally declined through the summer months, but the drag was reversed, even as duration was mildly extended, as rates rose rapidly into year-end. As spreads widened early in the year, the allocation to investment grade credit increased, allowing the Fund a bit more participation in the credit market rally since February, though positioning remained conservative with less exposure to commodity related industries that led the sector. Performance was also held back by the underweight to high yield credit, convertible bonds, and equities, which gained 17%, 10%, and 12%, respectively, in 2016 as commodity prices recovered from February lows and demand for risk assets returned. Value was added with the out-of-Index allocation to non-agency MBS, a largely floating rate sector that paced securitized products with a return for the year of nearly 5.5%. In addition to improving fundamentals, non-agency MBS benefitted from cash settlements related to crisis-era reps and warrants litigation, and continued demand from insurance companies after a favorable NAIC ratings review in December. CMBS positioning favored non-agency issues at the start of the year, which rewarded the Fund as the sector tightened in considerably on lighter than expected issuance and solid demand from yield buyers, and the position was subsequently reduced. Among ABS, the emphasis on government guaranteed student loans contributed to positive returns as uncertainty associated with potential downgrades subsided as the rating review process neared conclusion in the latter part of 2016. Also additive to returns in 2016 was the fully currency hedged Japanese Government Bond (JGB) T-bill trade, which is essentially an arbitrage strategy exploiting the dislocation created by the demand for U.S. dollars from Japanese investors. This trade significantly enhanced the return of the money markets held in the Fund, hence, reducing the cash drag.

Despite market expectations of improved growth, TCW's fundamental outlook for the fixed income markets has not changed—we still see signs of late cycle excesses in the credit markets while central banks have little ability to lean against poor fundamentals given prevailing low rates. What was already a vulnerable environment is magnified by the significant policy uncertainty introduced by the election. Markets appear to have priced in only the most optimistic scenario for growth that could result from tax policy reform, deregulation, and increased fiscal stimulus. Meanwhile, the negative growth impact from anti-trade and anti-immigration policies or the headwinds from a strong dollar, higher rates, and increasing inflation has not been properly taken into account.

The Fund's strategy and positioning continue to be largely influenced by TCW's view that interest rate pressures will heighten over time and that the aging credit cycle presents risks that are not appropriately priced into the market. Duration positioning remains shorter than the Index while sector allocations are conservative and issue selection is focused on higher-quality credits with yields that we believe provide fair value. Corporate credit exposure remains focused on regulated sectors like U.S. financials and electric utilities, as well as select industrials with stable cash flows, strong balance sheets, and solid asset coverage, with the position increasing during the year as additions were made across bendable areas of the market—those which we believe have the resilience to withstand potential volatility. High yield credit exposure in the Fund remains modest given relatively low yields and a wariness of weak and deteriorating fundamentals, though as this asset class unwinds and sentiment weakens, opportunities should arise. Securitized products continue to offer opportunities for attractive risk-adjusted returns, and positioning favors high quality, more senior positions, particularly non-agency MBS which continue to benefit from solid fundamentals and strong-handed sponsorship from a wide array of investors. Another ongoing theme is the Fund's emphasis within ABS on government-guaranteed Federal Family Educational Loan Program (FFELP) student loan receivables. Value remains attractive given the integrity of the government guarantee, though spreads have tightened in materially as ratings have largely withstood review, and the position may be downsized accordingly if spreads continue to migrate tighter. Finally, CMBS remains an overweight, but with significant spread tightening over the year in the non-agency CMBS space the emphasis in private label issues was reduced, while the small allocation to agency-backed bonds was maintained given limited credit risk and better liquidity.

TSI's equity exposure is currently implemented with long positions in S&P 500 Index futures that had a notional value representing 1.3% of the Fund's market value as of December 31, 2016. The position was gradually trimmed from year-ago levels as equity valuations increased, though a meaningful correction in equity prices might lead to an increase in the equity allocation.

Modest leverage can be utilized by the Fund through a Line of Credit facility, though the Fund does not currently use any of the available $70 million commitment. Leverage has been used when market opportunity was abundant and has been subsequently scaled back in response to a market environment less conducive to risk taking. Additionally, the cash position in the Fund has been maintained for potential asset re-pricing.

We greatly appreciate your investment in the Fund and your continuing support of TCW. If you have any additional questions or comments, we invite you to visit our web site at www.tcw.com or call our shareholder services department at 1-866-227-8179.

David S. DeVito

Notes to Financial Statements

Note 1 Organization

TCW Strategic Income Fund, Inc. (the Fund) was incorporated in Maryland on January 13, 1987 as a diversified, closed-end investment management company and is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the 1940 Act), and is traded on the New York Stock Exchange under the symbol TSI. The Fund commenced operations on March 5, 1987. The Fund's investment objective is to seek a total return comprised of current income and capital appreciation by investing in a wide range of securities including convertible securities, marketable equity securities, investment-grade debt securities, high-yield debt securities, securities issued or guaranteed by the U.S. Government, its agencies and instrumentalities (U.S. Government Securities), repurchase agreements, mortgage related securities, asset-backed securities, money market securities, other securities and derivative instruments without limit believed by the Fund's investment advisor to be consistent with the Fund's investment objective. TCW Investment Management Company LLC (the Advisor) is the investment advisor to the Fund and is registered under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended.

Note 2 Significant Accounting Policies

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies, which are in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAP) and which are consistently followed by the Fund in the preparation of its financial statements. The Fund is considered an investment company under the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) No. 946, Financial Services—Investment Companies.

Principles of Accounting: The Fund uses the accrual method of accounting for financial reporting purposes.

Security Valuation: Securities traded on national exchanges are valued at the last reported sales price. Securities traded on the NASDAQ Stock Market (NASDAQ) are valued using the NASDAQ Official Closing Price, which may not be the last reported sales price. Other securities, including short-term investments and forward currency contracts, which are traded over-the-counter (OTC) are valued at the mean of the current bid and asked prices as furnished by independent pricing services or by dealer quotations. Futures contracts are valued at the official settlement price of the exchange where they are traded.

Securities for which market quotations are not readily available, including circumstances under which it is determined by the Advisor that prices received are not reflective of a security's market value, are valued by the Advisor in good faith under procedures established by and under the general supervision of the Fund's Board of Directors (the Board and each member thereof, a Director and collectively, the Directors).

Edgar Filing: TCW STRATEGIC INCOME FUND INC - Form N-CSR

Fair value is defined as the price that the Fund would receive upon selling an investment in a timely transaction to an independent buyer in the principal or most advantageous market for the investment. In accordance with the authoritative guidance on fair value measurements and disclosures under GAAP, the Fund discloses investments in a three-tier hierarchy. This hierarchy is utilized to establish classification of fair value measurement refer broadly to the assumptions that market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability, including assumptions about risk. Inputs may be observable or unobservable. Observable inputs are inputs that reflect the assumptions market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability developed based on market data obtained from sources independent of the reporting entity. Unobservable inputs are inputs that reflect the reporting entity's own assumptions about the inputs market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability developed based on the best information available in the circumstances.

TCW Strategic Income Fund, Inc.

December
31, 2016

The three-tier hierarchy of inputs is summarized in the three broad levels listed below.

Level 1	quoted prices in active markets for identical investments
Level 2	other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices for similar investments, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, etc.)
Level 3	significant unobservable inputs (including the Fund's own assumptions in determining the fair value of investments)

Changes in valuation techniques may result in transfers in or out of an investment's assigned level within the hierarchy. The inputs or methodology used for valuing investments are not necessarily an indication of the risk associated with investing in those investments and the determination of the significance of a particular input to the fair value measurement in its entirety requires judgment and consideration of factors specific to each security.

The availability of observable inputs can vary from security to security and is affected by a wide variety of factors, including, for example, the type of security, whether the security is new and not yet established in the marketplace, the liquidity of markets, and other characteristics particular to the security. To the extent that valuation is based on models or inputs that are less observable or unobservable in the market, the determination of fair value requires more judgment. Accordingly, the degree of judgment exercised in determining fair value is greatest for instruments categorized in Level 3.

In periods of market dislocation, the observability of prices and inputs may be reduced for many instruments. This condition, as well as changes related to liquidity of investments, could cause a security to be reclassified between Level 1, Level 2, or Level 3.

In certain cases, the inputs used to measure fair value may fall into different levels of the fair value hierarchy. In such cases, for disclosure purposes the level in the fair value hierarchy is determined based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement.

Fair Value Measurements: A description of the valuation techniques applied to the Fund's major categories of assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a recurring basis is as follows:

Edgar Filing: TCW STRATEGIC INCOME FUND INC - Form N-CSR

Asset-backed securities (ABS) and mortgage-backed securities (MBS). The fair value of ABS and MBS is estimated based on models that consider the estimated cash flows of each debt tranche of the issuer, establish a benchmark yield, and develop an estimated tranche specific spread to the benchmark yield based on the unique attributes of the tranche including, but not limited to, the prepayment speed assumptions and attributes of the collateral. To the extent the inputs are observable and timely, the values would be categorized in Level 2 of the fair value hierarchy; otherwise, they would be categorized in Level 3.

Corporate bonds. The fair value of corporate bonds is estimated using recently executed transactions, market price quotations (where observable), bond spreads, or credit default swap spreads adjusted for any basis difference between cash and derivative instruments. Corporate bonds are generally categorized in Level 2 of the fair value hierarchy.

Equity securities. Equity securities are generally valued based on quoted prices from the applicable exchange. To the extent these securities are actively traded and valuation adjustments are not applied, they are categorized in Level 1 of the fair value hierarchy. Restricted securities issued by publicly held companies are generally categorized in Level 2 of the fair value hierarchy; if the discount is applied and significant, they are categorized in Level 3. Restricted securities held in non-public entities are included in Level 3 of the fair value hierarchy because they trade infrequently, and therefore, the inputs are unobservable.

TCW Strategic Income Fund, Inc.

Foreign currency contracts. The fair value of foreign currency contracts is derived from indices, reference rates, and other inputs or a combination of these factors. To the extent that these factors can be observed, foreign currency contracts are categorized in Level 2 of the fair value hierarchy.

Futures contracts. Futures contracts are generally valued at the settlement price established at the close of business each day by the exchange on which they are traded. As such, they are categorized in Level 1.

Government and agency securities. Government and agency securities are normally valued using a model that incorporates market observable data such as reported sales of similar securities, broker quotes, yields, bids, offers, quoted market prices, and reference data. Accordingly, government and agency securities are normally categorized in Level 1 or 2 of the fair value hierarchy depending on the liquidity and transparency of the market.

Money market funds. Money market funds are open-end mutual funds that invest in short-term debt securities. To the extent that these funds are valued based upon the reported net asset value, they are categorized in Level 1 of the fair value hierarchy.

Municipal bonds. Municipal bonds are fair valued based on pricing models that take into account, among other factors, information received from market makers and broker-dealers, current trades, bid wants lists, offerings, market movements, the callability of the bond, state of issuance, benchmark yield curves, and bond insurance. To the extent that these inputs are observable and timely, the fair values of municipal bonds would be categorized in Level 2; otherwise, the fair values would be categorized in Level 3.

Restricted securities. Restricted securities, including illiquid Rule 144A securities, issued by non-public entities are included in Level 3 of the fair value hierarchy because they trade infrequently, and therefore, the inputs are unobservable. Any other restricted securities valued similar to publicly traded securities may be categorized in Level 2 or 3 of the fair value hierarchy depending on whether a discount is applied and significant to the fair value.

Short-term investments. Short-term investments are valued using market price quotations, and are reflected in Level 2 of the fair value hierarchy.

Edgar Filing: TCW STRATEGIC INCOME FUND INC - Form N-CSR

The summary of the inputs used as of December 31, 2016 is listed after the Investments by Sector or Industry.

The Fund did not have any transfers in and out of Level 1 and Level 2 of the fair value hierarchy during the year ended December 31, 2016.

* The valuation technique employed on the Level 3 securities involves the use of third-party broker quotes and vendor prices. The Advisor monitors the effectiveness of third-party brokers and vendor prices using the valuation process described below.

Level 3 Valuation Process: Investments classified within Level 3 of the fair value hierarchy may be fair valued by the Advisor with consent of its Pricing Committee in accordance with the guidelines established by the Board and under the general oversight of the Board. The Pricing Committee employs various methods to determine fair valuations, including a regular review of key inputs and assumptions and review of any related market activity. The Pricing Committee reports to the Board at their regularly scheduled meetings. It is possible that fair value prices will be used by the Fund to a significant extent. The value determined for an investment using the Fund's fair value procedures may differ from recent market prices for the investment and may be significantly different from the value realized upon the sale of such investment. The Advisor, as part of the daily process, conducts back-testing of prices based on daily trade activities.

The Pricing Committee consists of the Fund's President, General Counsel, Chief Compliance Officer, Assistant Treasurer, Secretary, and a representative from TCW's portfolio management team, as well as alternate members as the Board may from time to time designate. The Pricing Committee reviews and makes recommendations concerning the fair valuation of portfolio securities and the Fund's pricing procedures in general.

Security Transactions and Related Investment Income: Security transactions are recorded as of the trade date. Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date. Interest income is recognized on an accrual basis. Realized gains and losses on investments are recorded on the basis of specific identification.

Foreign Currency Translation: The books and records of the Fund are maintained in U.S. dollars as follows: (1) the foreign currency denominated securities and other assets and liabilities stated in foreign currencies are translated using the daily spot rate; and (2) purchases, sales, income and expenses are translated at the rate of exchange prevailing on the respective dates of such transactions. The resultant exchange gains and losses are included in net realized or net unrealized gain (loss) in the Statement of Operations. Pursuant to U.S. federal income tax regulations, certain foreign exchange gains and losses included in realized and unrealized gains and losses are included in, or are a reduction of, ordinary income for federal income tax purposes.

Distributions: Distributions to shareholders are recorded on each ex-dividend date. The Fund declared and paid or reinvested dividends quarterly under an income-based distribution policy. The income-based distribution policy has a stated goal of providing quarterly distributions out of the Fund's accumulated undistributed net investment income and/or other sources subject to the requirements of the 1940 Act and Sub-chapter M of the Internal Revenue Code (the Code). The source for the dividend can come from net investment income and net realized capital gains measured on a fiscal year basis. Any portion of the distribution that exceeds income and capital gains will be treated as a return of capital. Under certain conditions, federal tax regulations cause some or all of the return of capital to be taxed as ordinary income. Income and capital gain distributions are determined in accordance with income tax regulations which may differ from GAAP. These differences may be primarily due to differing treatments for market discount and premium, losses recognized on structured debt, losses deferred due to wash sales, foreign currency gains and losses, and spillover distributions. Permanent book and tax basis differences relating to shareholder distributions will result in reclassifications to paid-in capital and may affect net investment income per share.

Derivative Instruments: Derivatives are financial instruments whose values are based on the values of one or more indicators, such as a security, asset, currency, interest rate, or index. Derivative transactions can create investment leverage and may be highly volatile. It is possible that a derivative transaction will result in a loss greater than the principal amount invested. The Fund may not be able to close out a derivative transaction at a favorable time or price.

(2) Amount disclosed represents average number of contracts or notional amounts, which are representative of the volume traded for the year ended December 31, 2016.

Counterparty Credit Risk: Derivative contracts may be exposed to counterparty risk. Losses can occur if the counterparty does not perform under the contract.

The Fund's risk of loss from counterparty credit risk on OTC derivatives is generally limited to the aggregate unrealized gain netted against any collateral held by the Fund.

With exchange traded futures and centrally cleared swaps, there is less counterparty credit risk to the Fund since the exchange or clearinghouse, as counterparty to such instruments, guarantees against a possible default. The clearinghouse stands between the buyer and the seller of the contract; therefore, the credit risk is limited to failure of the clearinghouse. While offset rights may exist under applicable law, the Fund does not have a contractual right of offset against a clearing broker or clearinghouse in the event of a default (including the bankruptcy or insolvency) of the clearing broker or clearinghouse. Additionally, credit risk exists in exchange traded futures and centrally cleared swaps with respect to initial and variation margin that is held in a clearing broker's customer accounts. While clearing brokers are required to segregate customer margin from their own assets, in the event that a clearing broker becomes insolvent or goes into bankruptcy and at that time there is a shortfall in the aggregate amount of margin held by the clearing broker for all its clients, typically the shortfall would be allocated on a pro rata basis across all the clearing broker's customers, potentially resulting in losses to the Fund. In order to better define its contractual rights and to secure rights that will help the Fund mitigate its counterparty risk, the Fund may enter into an International Swaps and Derivatives Association, Inc. Master Agreement (ISDA Master Agreement) or similar agreement with its derivative contract counterparties. An ISDA Master Agreement is a bilateral agreement between the Fund and a counterparty that governs OTC derivatives and typically contains, among other things, collateral posting terms and netting provisions in the event of a default and/or termination event. Under an ISDA Master Agreement, the Fund may, under certain circumstances, offset with the counterparty certain derivative financial instruments payables and/or receivables with collateral held and/or posted and create one single net payment. The provisions of the ISDA Master Agreement typically permit a single net payment in the event of default including the bankruptcy or insolvency of the counterparty. However, bankruptcy or insolvency laws of a particular jurisdiction may impose restrictions on or prohibitions against the right of offset in bankruptcy, insolvency or other events. In addition, certain ISDA Master Agreements allow counterparties to OTC derivatives to terminate derivative contracts prior to maturity in the event the Fund's net assets decline by a stated percentage or the Fund fails to meet the terms of its ISDA Master Agreements, which would cause the Fund to accelerate payment of any net liability owed to the counterparty.

Collateral requirements: For derivatives traded under an ISDA Master Agreement, the collateral requirements are typically calculated by netting the mark to market amount for each transaction under such agreement and comparing that amount to the value of any collateral pledged or received by the Fund.

Cash collateral that has been pledged to cover obligations of the Fund is reported separately on the Statement of Assets and Liabilities. Non-cash collateral pledged by the Fund, if any, is noted in the Schedule of Investments. Generally, the amount of collateral due from or to a party has to exceed a minimum transfer amount threshold, typically $250,000 or $500,000, before a transfer is required, which is determined at the close of each business day and the collateral is transferred on the next business day. To the extent amounts due to the Fund from its counterparties are not fully collateralized, contractually or otherwise, the Fund bears the risk of loss from counterparty non-performance. The Fund attempts to mitigate counterparty risk by entering into agreements only with counterparties that the Advisor believes have the financial resources to honor their obligations and by monitoring the financial stability of those counterparties. For financial reporting purposes, the Fund does not offset derivative assets and derivative liabilities that are subject to netting arrangements in the Statement of Assets and Liabilities. The Fund has implemented the disclosure requirements pursuant to FASB ASU No. 2013-01, Disclosures about Offsetting Assets and Liabilities that requires disclosures to make financial statements that are prepared under GAAP more comparable to those prepared under International Financial Reporting Standards.

Note 3 Portfolio Investments

Forward Foreign Currency Contracts: The Fund may enter into forward foreign currency contracts as a hedge against fluctuations in foreign exchange rates. Forward foreign currency contracts are marked to market daily and the change in market value is recorded by the Fund as unrealized gains or losses in the Statement of Assets and Liabilities. When a contract is closed or delivery is taken, the Fund records a realized gain or loss equal to the difference between the value of the contract at the time it was opened and the value at the time it was closed. Risks may arise upon entering into these contracts from the potential inability of counterparties to meet the terms of their contracts and from unanticipated movements in the value of the foreign currency relative to the U.S. dollar. Outstanding foreign currency forward contracts at December 31, 2016 are disclosed in the Schedule of Investments.

Futures Contracts: The Fund may seek to manage a variety of different risks or obtain exposure through the use of futures contracts. The Fund may use index futures to hedge against broad market risks to its portfolio or to gain broad market exposure when it holds uninvested cash or as an inexpensive substitute for cash investments directly in securities or other assets. Securities index futures contracts are contracts to buy or sell units of a securities index at a specified future date at a price agreed upon when the contract is made and are settled in cash. Positions in futures may be closed out only on an exchange or board of trade which provides a secondary market for such futures. Because futures contracts are exchange-traded, they typically have minimal exposure to counterparty risk. Parties to a futures contract are not required to post the entire notional amount of the contract, but rather a small percentage of that amount (by way of margin), both at the time they enter into futures transactions, and then on a daily basis if their positions decline in value; as a result, futures contracts are highly leveraged. Such payments are known as variation margin and are recorded by the Fund as unrealized gains or losses. Because futures markets are highly leveraged, they can be extremely volatile, and there can be no assurance that the pricing of a futures contract will correlate precisely with the pricing of the asset or index underlying it or the asset or liability of the Fund that is the subject of the hedge. It may not always be possible for the Fund to enter into a closing transaction with respect to a futures contract it has entered into at a favorable time or price. When the Fund enters into a futures transaction, it is subject to the risk that the value of the futures contract will move in a direction unfavorable to it.

When the Fund uses futures contracts for hedging purposes, it is likely that the Fund will have an asset or liability that will offset any loss (or gain) on the transactions, at least in part. When a futures contract is closed, the Fund records a realized gain or loss equal to the difference between the value of the contract at the time it was opened and the value at the time it was closed. During the year ended December 31, 2016, the Fund used S&P 500 Index futures to gain exposure to the equity market. The Fund also utilized Treasury futures to help manage interest rate duration and credit market exposure. Futures contracts outstanding at December 31, 2016 are listed in the Fund's Schedule of Investments.

Options: The Fund may purchase and sell put and call options on securities or indexes to enhance investment performance and/or to protect against changes in market prices.

A call option gives the holder the right to purchase, and obligates the writer to sell, a security at the strike price at anytime before the expiration date. A put option gives the holder the right to sell, and obligates the writer to buy, a security at the exercise price at any time before the expiration date. The Fund may purchase put options to protect portfolio holdings against a decline in market value of a security or securities held by them. The Fund may also purchase a put option hoping to profit from an anticipated decline in the value of the underlying security. If the Fund holds the security underlying the option, the option premium and any transaction costs will reduce any profit the Fund might have realized had it sold the underlying security instead of buying the put option. The Fund may purchase call options to hedge against an increase in the price of securities that the Fund ultimately wants to buy. The Fund may also purchase a call option as a long directional investment hoping to profit from an anticipated increase in the value of the underlying security. In order for a call option to be profitable, the market price of the underlying security must rise sufficiently above the exercise price to cover the premium and transaction costs. These costs will reduce any profit the Fund might have realized had it bought the underlying security at the time it purchased the call option.

The Fund may execute transactions in both listed and OTC options. Listed options involve minimal counterparty risk since listed options are guaranteed against default by the exchange on which they trade. Transactions in certain OTC options may expose the Fund to the risk of default by the counterparty to the transaction. In the event of default by the counterparty to the OTC option transaction, the Fund's maximum amount of loss as purchaser is the premium paid plus any unrealized gain. During the year ended December 31, 2016, the Fund did not purchase or write any option contracts.

Swap Agreements: The Fund may enter into swap agreements. Swap agreements are typically two-party contracts entered into primarily by institutional investors. In a standard swap transaction, two parties agree to exchange the returns (or differentials in rates of return) earned or realized on particular predetermined investments or instruments, which may be adjusted for an interest factor. The gross returns to be exchanged or swapped between the parties are generally calculated with respect to a notional amount (i.e., the return on or increase in value of a particular dollar amount invested at a particular interest rate or in a basket of securities representing a particular index).

The Fund may enter into credit default swap transactions as a buyer or seller of credit protection. In a credit default swap, one party provides what is in effect insurance against a default or other adverse credit event affecting an issuer of debt securities (typically referred to as a reference entity). In general, the buyer of credit protection is obligated to pay the protection seller an upfront amount or a periodic stream of payments over the term of the swap. If a credit event occurs, the buyer has the right to deliver to the seller bonds or other obligations of the reference entity (with a value up to the full notional value of the swap), and to receive a payment equal to the par value of the bonds or other obligations. Credit events that would trigger a request that the seller make payment are specific to each credit default swap agreement, but generally include bankruptcy, failure to pay, restructuring, obligation acceleration, obligation default, or repudiation/moratorium. When the Fund buys protection, it may or may not own securities of the reference entity. When the Fund sells protection under a credit default swap, the position may have the effect of creating leverage in the Fund's portfolio through the Fund's indirect long exposure to the issuer or securities on which the swap is written. When the Fund sells protection, it may do so either to earn additional income or to create such a synthetic long position.

During the term of a swap transaction, changes in the value of the swap are recognized as unrealized gains or losses by marking to market to reflect the market value of the swap. When the swap is terminated, the Fund will record a realized gain or loss equal to the difference, if any, between the proceeds from (or cost of) the closing transaction and the Fund's basis in the agreement. Upfront swap premium payments paid or received by the Fund, if any, are recorded within the value of the open swap agreement on the Fund's Statement of Assets and Liabilities and represent payments paid or received upon entering into the swap agreement to compensate for differences between stated terms of the swap agreement and prevailing market conditions (credit spreads, currency exchange rates, and other relevant factors). These upfront payments are recorded as realized gain or loss on the Fund's Statement of Operations upon termination or maturity of the swap agreement.

During the term of a swap transaction, the periodic net payments can be made for a set period of time or may be triggered by a predetermined credit event. The net periodic payments may be based on a fixed or variable interest rate, the change in market value of a specified security, basket of securities or index, or the return generated by a security. These periodic payments received or made by the Fund are recorded as realized gains and losses, respectively. During the year ended December 31, 2016, the Fund did not enter into such agreements.

Mortgage-Backed Securities: The Fund may invest in mortgage pass-through securities which represent interests in pools of mortgages in which payments of both principal and interest on the securities are generally made monthly, in effect passing through monthly payments made by borrowers on the residential or commercial mortgage loans which underlie the securities (net of any fees paid to the issuer or guarantor of the securities). Mortgage pass-through securities differ from other forms of debt securities, which normally provide for periodic payment of interest in fixed amounts with principal payments at maturity or specified call dates. The Fund may also invest in Collateralized Mortgage Obligations (CMOs). CMOs are debt obligations collateralized by residential or commercial mortgage loans or residential or commercial mortgage pass-through securities. Interest and principal are generally paid monthly. CMOs may be collateralized by whole mortgage loans or private mortgage pass-through securities but are more typically collateralized by portfolios of mortgage pass-through securities guaranteed by Ginnie Mae, Freddie Mac or Fannie Mae. The issuer of a series of CMOs may elect to be treated for tax purposes as a Real Estate Mortgage Investment Conduit. CMOs are structured into multiple classes, each bearing a different stated maturity. Monthly payment of principal received from the pool of underlying mortgages, including prepayments, is first returned to investors holding the shortest maturity class. Investors holding the longer maturity classes usually receive principal only after shorter classes have been retired. An investor may be partially protected against a sooner than desired return of principal because of the sequential payments. The Fund may invest in stripped MBS. Stripped MBS are usually structured with two classes that receive different proportions of the interest and principal distributions on a pool of mortgage assets. In certain cases, one class will receive all of the interest (the interest only or IO class), while the other class will receive all of the principal (the principal-only or PO class). The yield to maturity on IOs is sensitive to the rate of principal prepayments (including prepayments) on the related underlying mortgage assets, and principal payments may have a material effect on yield to maturity. If the underlying mortgage assets experience greater than anticipated prepayments of principal, the Fund may not fully recoup its initial investment in IOs.

TCW Strategic Income Fund, Inc.

Repurchase Agreements: The Fund may enter into repurchase agreements, under the terms of a Master Repurchase Agreement (MRA). The MRA permits the Fund, under certain circumstances, including an event of default (such as bankruptcy or insolvency), to offset payables and/or receivables under the MRA with collateral held and/or posted to the counterparty and create one single net payment due to or from the Fund. However, bankruptcy or insolvency laws of a particular jurisdiction may impose restrictions on or prohibitions against such a right of offset in the event of the MRA counterparty's bankruptcy or insolvency. Pursuant to the terms of the MRA, the Fund receives securities as collateral with a market value in excess of the repurchase price to be received by the Fund upon the maturity of the repurchase transaction. Upon a bankruptcy or insolvency of the MRA counterparty, the Fund recognizes a liability with respect to such excess collateral to reflect the Fund's obligation under bankruptcy law to return the excess to the counterparty. The Fund had no repurchase agreements outstanding at December 31, 2016.

When-Issued, Delayed-Delivery, and Forward Commitment Transactions: The Fund may enter into when issued, delayed-delivery or forward commitment transactions in order to lock in the purchase price of the underlying security or to adjust the interest rate exposure of the Fund's existing portfolio. In when-issued, delayed-delivery, or forward commitment transactions, the Fund commits to purchase particular securities, with payment and delivery to take place at a future date. Although the Fund does not pay for the securities or start earning interest on them until they are delivered, it immediately assumes the risks of ownership, including the risk of price fluctuation. If the Fund's counterparty fails to deliver a security purchased on a when issued, delayed-delivery or forward commitment basis, there may be a loss, and the Fund may have missed an opportunity to make an alternative investment.

Prior to settlement of these transactions, the value of the subject securities will fluctuate. In addition, because the Fund is not required to pay for when-issued, delayed-delivery or forward commitment securities until the delivery date, they may result in a form of leverage. To guard against this deemed leverage, the Fund monitors the obligations under these transactions and ensures that the Fund has sufficient liquid assets to cover them.

Security Lending: The Fund may lend its securities to qualified brokers. The loans must be collateralized at all times primarily with cash although the Fund can accept money market instruments or U.S. government securities with a market value at least equal to the market value of the securities on loan. As with any extensions of credit, the Fund may bear the risk of delay in recovery or even loss of rights in the collateral if the borrowers of the securities fail financially. The Fund earns additional income for lending its securities by investing the cash collateral in short-term investments. The Fund did not lend any securities during the year ended December 31, 2016.

Use of Estimates: The preparation of the accompanying financial statements requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amount of assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of income and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

Note 4 Risk Considerations

Market Risk: The Fund's investments will fluctuate with market conditions, and so will the value of your investment in the Fund. You could lose money on your investment in the Fund or the Fund could underperform other investments.

Liquidity Risk: The Fund's investments in illiquid securities may reduce the returns of the Fund because it may not be able to sell the illiquid securities at an advantageous time or price. Investments in high yield securities, foreign securities, derivatives or other securities with substantial market and/or credit risk tend to have the greatest exposure to liquidity risk. Certain investments in private placements and Rule 144A securities may be considered illiquid investments. The Fund may invest in private placements and Rule 144A securities.

Interest Rate Risk: The values of the Fund's investments fluctuate in response to movements in interest rates. If rates rise, the values of debt securities generally fall. The longer the average duration of a Fund's investment portfolio, the greater the change in value.

Mortgage-Backed and Other Asset-Backed Securities Risk: The Fund may invest in mortgage-backed (MBS) or other asset-backed securities (ABS). The values of some mortgage-backed or other asset-backed securities may expose the Fund to a lower rate of return upon reinvestment of principal. When interest rates rise, the value of mortgage-related securities generally will decline; however, when interest rates are declining, the value of mortgage related-securities with prepayment features may not increase as much as other fixed-income securities. The rate of prepayments on underlying mortgages will affect the price and volatility of a mortgage related security, and may shorten or extend the effective maturity of the security beyond what was anticipated at the time of purchase. If an unanticipated rate of prepayment on underlying mortgages increases the effective maturity of a mortgage-related security, the volatility of the security can be expected to increase. The value of these securities may fluctuate in response to the market's perception of the creditworthiness of the issuers. Additionally, although mortgages and mortgage-related securities are generally supported by some form of government or private guarantee and/or insurance, there is no assurance that private guarantors or insurers will meet their obligations.

Derivatives Risk: Use of derivatives, which at times is an important part of the Fund's investment strategy, involves risks different from, or possibly greater than, the risks associated with investing directly in securities and other traditional investments. Investments in derivatives could cause the Fund to lose more than the principal amount invested. Also, suitable derivative transactions may not be available in all circumstances and there can be no assurance that the Fund will achieve its objective with these transactions to reduce exposure to other risks when that would be beneficial.

Credit Risk: The values of any of the Fund's investments may also decline in response to events affecting the issuer or its credit rating. The lower rated debt securities in which the Fund may invest are considered speculative and are subject to greater volatility and risk of loss than investment-grade securities, particularly in deteriorating economic conditions. The value of some mortgage-related securities in which the Fund invests also may fall because of unanticipated levels of principal prepayments that can occur when interest rates decline. The Fund invests a material portion of its assets in securities of issuers that hold mortgage- and asset-backed securities and direct investments in securities backed by commercial and residential mortgage loans and other financial assets. The value and related income of these securities are sensitive to changes in economic conditions, including delinquencies and/or defaults. Continuing shifts in the market's perception of credit quality on securities backed by commercial and residential mortgage loans and other financial assets may result in increased volatility of market prices and periods of illiquidity that can negatively impact the valuation of certain issuers held by the Fund.

TCW Strategic Income Fund, Inc.

MBS and ABS are characterized and classified in a variety of different ways. These classifications include a view of the securities' cash flow structure (pass through, sequential pay, prepayment-protected, interest-only, principal-only, etc.), the security of the claim on the underlying assets (senior, mezzanine and subordinated), as well as types of underlying collateral (prime conforming loans, prime non-conforming loans, Alt-A loans, subprime loans, commercial loans, etc.). In many cases, the classification incorporates a degree of subjectivity—a particular loan might be categorized as "prime" by the underwriting standards of one mortgage issuer while another might classify the loan as "subprime." In addition to other functions, the risk associated with an investment in a mortgage loan must take into account the nature of the collateral, the form and the level of credit enhancement, the vintage of the loan, the geography of the loan, the purpose of the loan (refinance versus purchase versus equity take-out), the borrower's credit quality (e.g., FICO score), and whether the loan is a first trust deed or a second lien.

Counterparty Risk: The Fund may be exposed to counterparty risk, or the risk that an entity with which the Fund has unsettled or open transactions may default. Financial assets, which potentially expose the Fund to credit and counterparty risks, consist principally of investments and cash due from counterparties. The exposure to credit and counterparty risks with respect to these financial assets is reflected in fair values recorded in the Fund's Statement of Assets and Liabilities.

Note 5 Federal Income Taxes

It is the policy of the Fund to comply with the requirements of the Code applicable to regulated investment companies and distribute all of its net taxable income, including any net realized gains on investments, to its shareholders. Therefore, no federal income tax provision is required.

were accrued. The Fund is subject to examination by U.S. federal and state tax authorities for returns filed for the prior three and four fiscal years, respectively.

Note 6 Investment Advisory and Service Fees

As compensation for the investment advisory services rendered, facilities provided, and expenses borne, the Advisor is paid a monthly fee by the Fund computed at the annual rate of 0.75% of the first $100 million of the Fund's average managed assets and 0.50% of the Fund's average managed assets in excess of $100 million.

In addition to the management fee, the Fund's Board has approved an annual amount for the Fund to reimburse the Advisor for a portion of its costs associated with implementing the Fund's Rule 38a-1 compliance program. The amount is accrued on a daily basis and included in the Statement of Operations. However, the Advisor has waived its reimbursement request since April 2016.

Note 7 Purchases and Sales of Securities

For the year ended December 31, 2016, purchases and sales or maturities of investment securities (excluding short-term investments) aggregated to $88,096,181 and $69,843,831, respectively, for non-U.S. Government securities, and aggregated to $13,216,157 and $4,250,925, respectively, for U.S. Government securities. Purchases include the Fund's purchase of certain securities from affiliated investment accounts for a total of $2,684,867 in accordance with the provisions set forth in Section 17(a)-7 of the 1940 Act.

Note 8 Directors Fees

Directors who are not affiliated with the Advisor received, as a group, fees and expenses of $87,837 from the Fund for the year ended December 31, 2016. Directors may elect to defer receipt of their fees in accordance with the terms of a Non-Qualified Deferred Compensation Plan. Deferred compensation is included within Accrued Directors Fees and Expenses in the Statement of Assets and Liabilities. Certain Officers and/or Directors of the Fund are also Officers and/or Directors of the Advisor but do not receive any compensation from the Fund.

Note 9 Restricted Securities

The Fund is permitted to invest in securities that have legal or contractual restrictions on resale. These securities may be sold privately, but are required to be registered before being sold to the public (exemption rules apply). Private placement securities are generally considered to be restricted except for those securities traded between qualified institutional investors under the provisions of Rule 144A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the Securities Act). However, the Fund considers 144A securities to be restricted if those securities have been deemed illiquid by the Advisor. Disposal of these securities may involve time consuming negotiations and expense, and prompt sale at an acceptable price may be difficult. Restricted securities outstanding at December 31, 2016 are listed below:

Issuer Description	Acquisition Date	Aggregate Cost	Aggregate Value	Percentage of Net Assets
Citigroup Commercial Mortgage Trust, (12-GC8-XA), (144A), 2.312%, due 09/10/45	2/13/15-2/26/15	$ 806,709	$ 515,970	0.19%

Note 10 Loan Outstanding

The Fund is permitted to have borrowings for investment purposes. The Fund has entered into a line of credit agreement with The Bank of New York Mellon which permits the Fund to borrow up to $70 million at a rate, per annum, equal to the Federal Funds Rate plus 1.00%. There is also an annual facility fee of $35,000, which is shown on the Statement of Operations. The Fund did not have any borrowings during the year ended December 31, 2016.

Note 11 Indemnifications

Under the Fund's organizational documents, its Officers and Directors may be indemnified against certain liabilities and expenses arising out of the performance of their duties to the Fund. In addition, the Fund entered into an agreement with each of the Directors which provides that the Fund will indemnify and hold harmless each Director against any expenses actually and reasonably incurred by the Director in any proceeding arising out of or in connection with the Director's services to the Fund, to the fullest extent permitted by the Fund's Articles of Incorporation and By-Laws, the Maryland General Corporation Law, the Securities Act, and the 1940 Act, each as now or hereinafter in force. Additionally, in the normal course of business, the Fund enters into agreements with service providers that may contain indemnification clauses. The Fund's maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown as this would involve future claims that may be made against the Fund that have not yet occurred. However, based on experience, the Fund expects the risk of loss to be remote. The Fund has not accrued any liability in connection with such indemnification.

Note 12 Recently Issued Accounting Pronouncement

In October 2016, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission adopted new rules and amended existing rules (together, "final rules") intended to modernize the reporting and disclosure of information by registered investment companies. In part, the final rules amend Regulation S-X and require standardized, enhanced disclosure about derivatives in investment company financial statements, as well as other amendments. The compliance date for the amendments to Regulation S-X is August 1, 2017. Management is currently evaluating the impact that the adoption of the amendments to Regulation S-X will have on the Fund's financial statements and related disclosures.

Investment Management and Advisory Agreement

TCW Strategic Income Fund, Inc. (the Fund) and TCW Investment Management Company LLC (the Advisor) are parties to an Investment Advisory and Management Agreement (Current Agreement), pursuant to which the Advisor is responsible for managing the investments of the Fund. The Current Agreement continues in effect from year to year provided that such continuance is specifically approved at least annually by the Board of Directors of the Fund (the Board), including the directors who are not interested persons of either the Fund or the Advisor (the Independent Directors). The Current Agreement terminates automatically in the event of its assignment.

At a meeting held on September 26, 2016, the Board, including the Independent Directors, approved the continuation of the Current Agreement for an additional one-year term from when it otherwise would expire.

Continuation of the Current Agreement

The Advisor provided materials to the Board in advance of meetings held on September 7, 2016 and September 26, 2016 (the Current Agreement Materials) for their evaluation of the Current Agreement in response to information requested by the Independent Directors, who were advised by counsel to the Independent Directors with respect to these and other relevant matters. In addition, the Independent Directors met separately with counsel to the Independent Directors to consider the information provided. As a result of those meetings and their other meetings, the Board (including all of the Independent Directors voting separately) approved the continuation of the Current Agreement based on the recommendation of the Independent Directors. In deciding to recommend the renewal of the Current Agreement, the Independent Directors did not identify any single or particular piece of information that, in isolation, was the controlling factor. Each Independent Director may also have weighed factors differently. This summary describes the most important, but not all, of the factors considered by the Board.

Nature, Extent, and Quality of Services

The Independent Directors considered the general nature, extent, and quality of services provided and expected to be provided by the Advisor. The Independent Directors evaluated the Advisor's experience in serving as manager of the Fund, and considered the benefits to shareholders of investing in a fund complex that is served by a large investment management organization where the Advisor and its affiliates also serve a variety of other investment advisory clients, including separate accounts, other pooled investment vehicles, registered investment companies and commingled funds. The Independent Directors also considered the ability of the Advisor to provide appropriate levels of support and resources to the Fund. The Independent Directors noted the Advisor's responsibility to supervise the activities of the Fund's various service providers, as well as to support the Independent Directors at their meetings, prepare regulatory filings, and provide various operational personnel.

In addition, the Independent Directors took note of the background and experience of the senior management and portfolio management personnel of the Advisor and that the Advisor provides and is expected to continue to provide substantial expertise and attention to the Fund as well as resources and infrastructure, noting also the Advisor's description of its stable team and deep bench of personnel. The Independent Directors considered the ability of the Advisor to attract and retain qualified business professionals and its compensation program, noting in particular the Advisor's recent hiring of professionals in various areas over the past several years, including additional analysts on the equity research team and emerging markets team, a new Chief Data Officer, upgrading resources in the middle office and back office operations and other areas, as well as its continuing and extensive program of infrastructure and systems enhancements. The Independent Directors also considered the breadth of the compliance programs of the Advisor, as well as the compliance operations of the Advisor with respect to the Fund. The Independent Directors concluded that they were satisfied with the nature, extent and quality of the services provided and anticipated to be provided to the Fund by the Advisor under the Current Agreement.

TCW Strategic Income Fund, Inc.

Investment Performance

The Independent Directors reviewed information about the Fund's historical performance, including materials prepared by the Advisor and a Report prepared by Broadridge, an independent third party consultant, which provided a comparative analysis of the performance of the Fund with the performance of similar funds over one-, three-, five- and ten-year periods. The Independent Directors noted the peer group category and that it included only leveraged closed-end funds even though the Fund currently employs no leverage. Broadridge also commented on the difficulty of establishing a peer group of funds for the Fund given the substantial differences in strategies and portfolio holdings for funds with the same investment objective. Within one peer group provided, the Fund had below median performance for the one-, three- and five-year periods, but top quintile performance for the ten-year period. For another peer group, the Fund's performance was at or above the median for the one-, five-, and ten-year periods, but below for the three-year period. The Board noted the absence of leverage for the Fund and other differences from funds comprising the peer group. The Independent Directors concluded that the Advisor should continue to provide investment advisory and management services to the Fund.

Advisory Fees and Profitability

The Independent Directors considered information in the materials prepared by Lipper and the Advisor regarding the advisory fees charged to the Fund, advisory fees paid by other funds in the Fund's peer group, and advisory fees paid to the Advisor under advisory contracts with respect to other clients and funds. The Independent Directors noted that the investment advisory fee rate charged by the Advisor to the Fund was below the median of its peer group. The Independent Directors reviewed related materials prepared by the Advisor. The Independent Directors also noted that the Advisor does not manage any separate accounts or other funds with an investment strategy substantially similar to the current strategy of the Fund.

The Independent Directors considered the costs of services provided to the Fund by the Advisor and profits realized by the Advisor and its affiliates from their relationship with the Fund. Recognizing the difficulty in evaluating a manager's profitability with respect to the funds it manages in the context of a manager with multiple lines of business, and noting that other profitability evaluation methodologies might also be reasonable, the Independent Directors concluded that the profits of the Advisor from its relationship with the Fund were reasonable.

Based on these various considerations, the Independent Directors concluded that the contractual management fee of the Fund under the Current Agreement is fair and bears a reasonable relationship to the services rendered by the Advisor.

Expenses and Economies of Scale

The Independent Directors noted that the total expenses of the Fund were below the median of expenses incurred by other funds in its peer group. The Independent Directors considered the potential of the Advisor and the Fund to achieve economies of scale as the Fund grows in size and whether the advisory fees in the Current Agreement reflect those economies of scale. The Board noted that, as a closed-end fund, there is limited potential for the Fund to experience significant asset growth other than through capital appreciation and income production. The Independent Directors also received information about the extent to which the Advisor has shared economies of scale through the reinvestment of profits into the advisory business of the Advisor and its affiliates, which benefits the Fund. The Independent Directors also considered the relative advantages and disadvantages of an advisory fee with breakpoints compared to a flat advisory fee supplemented by advisory fee waivers and/or expensive reimbursements. The Independent Directors noted the Current Agreement with the Advisor has a fee breakpoint and concluded that the current fee arrangements were appropriate given the current size and structure of the Fund and adequately reflected any economies of scale.

Ancillary Benefits

The Independent Directors considered ancillary benefits to be received by the Advisor and its affiliates as a result of the relationship of the Advisor with the Fund, including compensation for certain compliance support services. The Independent Directors noted that, in addition to the fees the Advisor receives under the Current Agreement, the Advisor receives additional benefits in connection with management of the Fund in the form of reports, research and other services from brokers and their affiliates in return for brokerage commissions paid to such brokers. The Independent Directors concluded that any potential benefits to be derived by the Advisor from its relationship with the Fund are reasonably related to the services provided by the Advisor to the Fund.

Conclusions

Based on their overall review, including their consideration of each of the factors referred to above (and others), the Board and the Independent Directors concluded that the Current Agreement is fair and reasonable to the Fund and its shareholders, that the Fund's shareholders received reasonable value in return for the advisory fees and other amounts paid to the Advisor by the Fund, and that the renewal of the Current Agreement was in the best interests of the Fund and its shareholders.

Dividend Reinvestment Plan

Shareholders who wish to add to their investment may do so by making an election to participate in the Dividend Reinvestment Plan (the Plan). Under the Plan, your dividend is used to purchase shares on the open market whenever shares, including the related sales commission, are selling below the Fund's NAV per share. You will be charged a pro-rata portion of brokerage commissions on open-market purchases under the Plan. If the market price, including commission, is selling above the NAV, you will receive shares at a price equal to the higher of the NAV per share on the payment date or 95% of the closing market price on the payment date. Generally, for tax purposes, shareholders participating in the Plan will be treated as having received a distribution from the Fund in cash equal to the value of the shares purchased from them under the Plan.

To enroll in the Plan, if your shares are registered in your name, write to Computershare, P.O. Box #30170, College Station, TX 77842-3170, or call toll free at (866) 227-8179. You may elect to continue to hold shares previously purchased on your behalf or to sell your shares and receive the proceeds, net of any brokerage commissions.
