COROWARE, INC.
NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
(Unaudited)

NOTE 1 – BASIS OF PRESENTATION

The accompanying unaudited interim consolidated financial statements of CoroWare, Inc. (“CoroWare” or “the Company”) have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America and the rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”), and should be read in conjunction with the audited financial statements and notes thereto contained in the Company’s annual report filed with the SEC on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2009. The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the Company and its wholly-owned operating subsidiary, CoroWare Technologies, Inc. Also included in the consolidated statements are the Company’s inactive wholly-owned subsidiaries, Innova Robotics, Inc., Robotic Workspace Technologies, Inc., and Robotics Software Service, Inc. (herein referred to as the “Subsidiaries”). In the opinion of management, all adjustments consisting of normal recurring adjustments, necessary for a fair presentation of financial position and the results of operations for the interim periods presented have been reflected herein. The results of operations for interim periods are not necessarily indicative of the results to be expected for the full year. Notes to the financial statements which would substantially duplicate the disclosure contained in the audited financial statements for the most recent fiscal year ended December 31, 2009 as reported in Form 10-K have been omitted.

NOTE 2 – SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

Management does not expect the impact of any other recently issued accounting pronouncements to have a material impact on its financial condition or results of operations.

NOTE 3 – FINANCIAL CONDITION AND GOING CONCERN

The Company has losses from operations for the six months ended June 30, 2010 of $395,497. Because of these losses, the current working capital deficit, and the projection of additional losses for 2010, the Company will require additional working capital to develop its business operations.

The Company intends to raise additional working capital through the use of private placements, public offerings, bank financing and/or related party financings.

There are no assurances that the Company will be able to either (1) achieve a level of revenues adequate to generate sufficient cash flow from operations; or (2) obtain additional financing through either private placements, public offerings, bank financing and/or related party financing necessary to support the Company's working capital requirements. To the extent that funds generated from operations, any private placements, public offerings, bank financing and/or related party financings are insufficient, the Company will have to raise additional working capital. No assurance can be given that additional financing will be available or, if available, will be on terms acceptable to the Company.

These conditions raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. The consolidated financial statements do not include any adjustments relating to the recoverability and classification of asset carrying amounts or the amount and classification of liabilities that might be necessary should the Company be unable to continue as a going concern.

NOTE 4 – ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE FACTORING

In March 2010, the Company entered into an accounts receivable factoring arrangement with Capefirst Funding, Inc. (“Capefirst”). The agreement calls for Capefirst to advance up to 80% of the net face amount of each assigned account or up to 50% of eligible assigned purchase orders. The agreement calls for a maximum facility amount of $200,000 with a purchase fee of 2% of the net face amount of each assigned account and a collection fee of 0.1% compounded daily. In the event of a dispute or in the event of fraud, misrepresentation, willful misconduct or negligence on the part of the Company, Capefirst may require the Company to immediately repurchase the assigned accounts at a purchase price that includes the amount of the assigned account plus the discount fee, interest and collection fee and may include a processing fee of 10%.

All of our financings with Yorkville have matured and are currently in default. As such, all amounts of unpaid principal and interest are due and payable.

The following table summarizes the number of common shares indexed to the derivative financial instruments as of June 30, 2010:

Financing or other contractual arrangement:	Conversion
	Features	Warrants	Total
$2,825,000 Convertible note financing	190,308,342	8,333	190,316,675
$ 600,000 Convertible note financing	67,959,697	525,000	68,484,697
$ 300,000 Convertible note financing	65,764	33,333	99,097
	258,333,803	566,666	258,900,469

The embedded conversion features associated with our convertible debentures are valued based on the number of shares that are indexed to that liability. Keeping the number of shares constant, the liability associated with the embedded conversion features increases as our share price increases and, likewise, decreases when our share price decreases. In the same manner, derivative expense is created when our share price increases and derivative income is created when our share price decreases. During the six months ended June 30, 2010, Yorkville converted $75,800 of principal into 3,922,107 shares of the Company's common stock. A gain of $32,560 was recognized on the conversion.

All of the Company's convertible debt instruments are past due and in default. However, the terms of the agreements allow conversion of the debt during periods of default. In computing the derivative liability associated with the conversion, one of the inputs is maturity of the instruments which, in this case, is technically in the past. Accordingly, the management has estimated a debt maturity date of ten months form the period-end date for purposes of the derivative liability calculation.

ITEM 2. MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

This report contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933 and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These statements relate to future events or our future financial performance. In some cases, you can identify forward-looking statements by terminology such as "may" "should," "expect," "plan," "anticipate," "believe," "estimate," "predict," "potential" or "continue," the negative of such terms, or other comparable terminology. These statements are only predictions. Actual events or results may differ materially from those in the forward-looking statements as a result of various important factors. Although we believe that the expectations reflected in the forward-looking statements are reasonable, they should not be regarded as a representation by CoroWare, Inc., or any other person, that such expectations will be achieved. The business and operations of CoroWare, Inc. are subject to substantial risks, which increase the uncertainty inherent in the forward-looking statements contained in this report.

BACKGROUND

CoroWare, Inc ("CoroWare" or "the Company") is a public holding company whose principal subsidiary, CoroWare Technologies, Inc. ("CTI"), has expertise in information technology consulting, mobile robotics, and affordable telepresence. Through its subsidiary, the Company delivers custom engineering services, hardware and software products, and subscription services that benefit customers in North America, Europe, Asia and the Middle East. Their customers span multiple industry sectors and comprise universities, software and hardware product development companies, and non-profit organizations. The company also maintains a Near Shore practice which is comprised of multiple subcontracting companies with whom the company maintains close working relationships. Through these relationships, the Company is able to provide services in South America.

COROWARE TECHNOLOGIES, INC.

CTI is a software professional services company with a strong focus on Information Technology integration and robotics integration, business automation solutions, and unmanned systems solutions to its customers in North America and Europe.

CTI's expertise includes the deployment and integration of computing platforms and applications, as well as the development of unmanned vehicle software and solutions for customers in the research, commercial, and homeland security market segments. CTI shall continue to offer its high value software systems development and integration services that complement the growing trend in outsourced software development services in Asia, Latin America and Eastern Europe.

CoroWare Technologies comprises three separately managed lines of business:

- CoroWare Business Solutions: IT and lab management; software architecture, design and development; content delivery; partner and program management.
- Robotics and Automation: Custom engineering such as visualization, simulation and software development; and mobile robot platforms for university, government and corporate researchers.
- Telepresence: High definition video conferencing products, solutions and subscription services.

The Company's revenues are principally derived from standing contracts that include Microsoft (partner management and IT professional services), a European auto manufacturer (simulation software custom development), and other customers whose product development groups require custom software development and consulting companies. Existing contract revenues vary month by month based on the demands of the clients. The Company's telepresence effort is in the early stages of growth and will require additional working capital to compete effectively against new entrants in this rapidly growing market.

RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

THREE MONTHS ENDED JUNE 30, 2010 COMPARED TO THREE MONTHS ENDED JUNE 30, 2009:

During the three-month period ended June 30, 2010 (the "2010 Period") revenues were $632,813 compared to revenues of $416,117 during the three-month period ended June 30, 2009 (the "2009 Period"). Our revenues increased compared to the previous year as customers began to purchase videoconferencing services, infrastructure and room systems; and increasingly request for CoroWare's software development services for billing integration, social networking, and game testing projects.

Cost of revenues was $496,464 for the 2010 Period compared to $253,589 for the 2009 Period. Cost of revenues represents primarily labor and labor-related costs in addition to overhead costs. Gross profit on these 2010 revenues amounted to $136,349 (21.5% gross profit percentage) compared to $162,528 (39.1% gross profit percentage) for the 2009 Period. The reduced gross profit percentage resulted from our investment of operational resources into our CoroCall telepresence service that we believe will result in new business in the coming months.

Research and development was $31,783 for the 2010 Period compared to $0 in the 2009 Period. The increased research and development investment resulted from our software development and testing initiatives, including CoroWare Usage Reporter for Vidyo Systems, CoroWare Billing Integration Framework for MetraTech and Vidyo, and CoroWare NameTag.

Operating expenses were $374,478 during the 2010 Period compared to $267,691 during the 2009 Period. Selling expenses were higher in the 2010 Period as the Company increased its sales and marketing expenses to help increase major account sales of CoroCall and CoroWare's telepresence product sales in the coming months.

Loss from operations was $238,129 during the 2010 Period compared to $105,163 in the 2009 Period. The increase in this loss is a result of increasing our Research and Development and Sales investments in telepresence to increase sales in 2010.

Total other income (expense) was ($35,684) during the 2010 Period compared to ($1,261,089) in the 2009 Period. Other income (expense) is comprised primarily of derivative income (expense) and amortization of debt discount and deferred finance costs. Derivative income in the 2010 Period was $63,731 compared to derivative expense of ($691,803) in the 2009 Period. The embedded conversion features associated with our convertible debentures are valued based on the number of shares that are indexed to that liability. Keeping the number of shares constant, the liability associated with the embedded conversion features increases as our share price increases and, likewise, decreases when our share price decreases. Derivative income (expense) displays the inverse relationship. The derivative income in the 2010 Period is the result of the decrease in our stock price on the measurement dates during the three month period ($0.028 at March 31, 2010 versus $0.012 at June 30, 2010). The derivative expense in the 2009 Period was not related to a change in the share price as the share price remained constant ($0.18 at March 31, 2009 versus $0.18 at June 30, 2009). The derivative expense in the 2009 Period was the indirect result of losing the par floor on the conversion feature subsequent to the 1-for-300 reverse split. The par floor had the effect of limiting the number of shares indexed to the debt and thus limiting the liability. Subsequent to the reverse split, the stock was trading well above par so the number of shares indexed to the debt was not limited, the liability was thus greater and derivative expense was recorded. Interest expense for the three month 2010 Period is $140,173 compared to $569,286 for the three month 2009 Period. The decrease in interest expense is a direct result of the amortization of debt discount on the convertible debt. The debt discount was amortized using the effective interest method. Under this method, the amount of amortization increased exponentially as the underlying carrying value of the amortized debt increased. The debt discounts associated with the $2.8 million financing and the $600,000 financing finished amortizing in the fourth quarter of 2009.

Net loss for the 2010 Period was $273,813 compared to net loss of $1,366,252 for the 2009 Period.

Basic weighted average shares outstanding were 14,399,307 during the 2010 Period compared to 2,917,834 in the 2009 Period.

SIX MONTHS ENDED JUNE 30, 2010 COMPARED TO SIX MONTHS ENDED JUNE 30, 2009:

During the six-month period ended June 30, 2010 (the "2010 Period") revenues were $1,178,622 compared to revenues of $1,074,106 during the three-month period ended June 30, 2009 (the "2009 Period"). Our revenues increased in the 2010 period compared to the previous year as customers began to purchase videoconferencing services, infrastructure and room systems; and increasingly request CoroWare's software development services for billing integration, social networking, and game testing projects.

Cost of revenues was $932,876 for the 2010 Period compared to $669,077 for the 2009 Period. Cost of revenues represents primarily labor and labor-related costs in addition to overhead costs. Gross profit on these 2010 revenues amounted to $245,746 (20.9% gross profit percentage) compared to $405,029 (38% gross profit percentage) for the 2009 Period revenues.

Research and development was $35,807 for the 2010 Period compared to $87 in the 2009 Period.

Operating expenses were $641,243 during the 2010 Period compared to $568,926 during the 2009 Period.

Loss from operations was $395,497 during the 2010 Period compared to $163,897 in the 2009 Period.

Total other income (expense) was $645,604 during the 2010 Period compared to ($3,267,190) in the 2009 Period. Other income (expense) is comprised primarily of derivative income (expense) and amortization of debt discount and deferred finance costs. Derivative income in the 2010 Period was $1,000,442 compared to derivative expense of ($2,277,262) in the 2009 Period. The embedded conversion features associated with our convertible debentures are valued based on the number of shares that are indexed to that liability. Keeping the number of shares constant, the liability associated with the embedded conversion features increases as our share price increases and, likewise, decreases when our share price decreases. Derivative income (expense) displays the inverse relationship. The derivative income in the 2010 Period is the result of the decrease in our stock price on the measurement dates during the three month period ($0.08 at December 31, 2009 versus $0.012 at June 30, 2010). The derivative expense in the 2009 Period is the direct result of the increase in our stock price on the measurement dates during the six month period ($0.03 at December 31, 2008 versus $0.18 at June 30, 2009). An increase in the stock price resulted in an increased value of the embedded conversion feature (using the Monte Carlo calculator) which resulted in derivative expense. Interest expense for the six month 2010 Period is $417,554 compared to $989,928 for the six month 2009 Period. The decrease in interest expense is a direct result of the amortization of debt discount on the convertible debt. The debt discount was amortized using the effective interest method. Under this method, the amount of amortization increased exponentially as the underlying carrying value of the amortized debt increased. The debt discounts associated with the $2.8 million financing and the $600,000 financing finished amortizing in the fourth quarter of 2009.

Net income for the 2010 Period was $250,107 compared to net loss of ($3,431,087) for the 2009 Period.

Basic weighted average shares outstanding were 10,641,039 during the 2010 Period compared to 2,923,474 in the 2009 Period. Fully diluted weighted average shares outstanding were 27,403,874 for the 2010 Period. There is no fully diluted calculation for the 2009 Period as the effect would be anti-dilutive.

LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES

At June 30, 2010, we had current assets of $213,446, current liabilities of $9,251,026, negative working capital of $9,037,580 and an accumulated deficit of $24,178,978.

We will need to obtain additional capital in order to expand operations and become profitable. In order to obtain capital, we may need to sell additional shares of our common stock or borrow funds from private lenders. There can be no assurance that we will be successful in obtaining additional funding. We will still need additional capital in order to continue operations until we are able to achieve positive operating cash flow. Additional capital is being sought, but we cannot guarantee that we will be able to obtain such investments. Financing transactions may include the issuance of equity or debt securities, obtaining credit facilities, or other financing mechanisms. If we do not obtain additional capital, we may cease operations.

However, even if we are able to raise the funds required, it is possible that we could incur unexpected costs and expenses, fail to collect significant amounts owed to us, or experience unexpected cash requirements that would force us to seek alternative financing. Furthermore, if we issue additional equity or debt securities, stockholders may experience additional dilution or the new equity securities may have rights, preferences or privileges senior to those of existing holders of our common stock. If additional financing is not available or is not available on acceptable terms, we will have to curtail our operations.

OFF-BALANCE SHEET ARRANGEMENTS

We do not have any off balance sheet arrangements that are reasonably likely to have a current or future effect on our financial condition, revenues, results of operations, liquidity or capital expenditures.

ITEM 3. QUANTITATIVE AND QUALITATIVE DISCLOSURES ABOUT MARKET RISK

As a smaller reporting company, as defined in Rule 12b-2 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the "Exchange Act"), we are not required to provide the information required by this item.

ITEM 4. CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES

Evaluation of Disclosure Controls and Procedures

With the participation of Lloyd T. Spencer, who serves as the Chief Executive Officer (the principal executive officer) and Interim Chief Financial Officer (the principal financial officer); the Company's management has evaluated the effectiveness of the Company's disclosure controls and procedures (as defined in Rule 13a-15(e) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the "Exchange Act")), as of the end of the quarterly period covered by this Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q. As of the end of the period covered by this Report, we conducted an evaluation, under the supervision and with the participation of our chief executive officer and chief financial officer, of our disclosure controls and procedures (as defined in Rules 13a-15(e) and 15d-15(e) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934). Based on this evaluation, our chief executive officer and interim chief financial officer concluded that our disclosure controls and procedures are not effective to ensure that information required to be disclosed by us in reports that we file or submit under the Exchange Act is recorded, processed, summarized and reported within the time periods specified in Securities and Exchange Commission rules and forms. The ineffectiveness of our disclosure controls and procedures is the result of certain deficiencies in internal controls constituting material weaknesses as discussed below.

The Company has historically had limited operating revenue and, as such, all accounting and financial reporting operations have been and are currently performed by a limited number of individuals. The parties that perform the accounting and financial reporting operations are the only parties with any significant knowledge of generally accepted accounting principles. Thus, we lack segregation of duties in the period-end financial reporting process. This lack of additional accounting/auditing staff with significant knowledge of generally accepted accounting principles in order to properly segregate duties could result in ineffective oversight and monitoring and the possibility of a misstatement within the financial statements. However, the material weaknesses identified did not result in the restatement of any previously reported financial statements or any other related financial disclosure, nor does management believe that it had any effect on the accuracy of the Company's financial statements for the current reporting period.

The Company is currently reviewing its policies and is evaluating its disclosure controls and procedures so that it will be able to determine the changes it can and should make to make such controls more effective.

Changes in Internal Controls over Financial Reporting

There were no changes in the Company's internal control over financial reporting during the company's last fiscal quarter that have materially affected, or are likely to materially affect, the company's internal control over financial reporting, except that we were unable to timely file our 10K for the year ending December 31, 2009.
