Amended and Restated Executive Employment Agreement for James G. Rakes, Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer

On December 17, 2008, National Bankshares, Inc. (the Company) entered into an amended and restated executive employment agreement (the Agreement) with James G. Rakes pursuant to which Mr. Rakes will continue to serve the Company as its President and Chief Executive Officer and will continue to serve as chief executive officer of one or more of the Company's wholly-owned subsidiaries. The Agreement is effective as of December 31, 2008 and has a two-year term which may be extended for successive one-year periods. This agreement amends and restates in its entirety the previous agreement between the Company and Mr. Rakes that was dated January 1, 2002, and it is compliant with the provisions of Internal Revenue Code Section 409A. Pursuant to the Agreement, Mr. Rakes will receive a base annual salary of not less than his current salary of $445,183. The Agreement provides that he will be eligible to receive an annual bonus based on the overall performance of the Company, and the Board of Directors will consider a stock-based award each year. The Capital Accumulation Plan (the CAP) in which Mr. Rakes has participated in some form since 1992 was continued. The maximum Company allocation under the CAP is $60,000 annually. The allocation is divided equally between two target areas: (1) return on equity, and (2) return on assets. The amount actually contributed to the CAP is based on the Company's performance relative to the performance of a peer group of no fewer than five Virginia community bank holding companies. A minimum of 85% of the peer group's performance required for a contribution and the maximum contribution is available for 150% of the peer group's performance. Awards to Mr. Rakes under the CAP are vested as they are earned. In addition, Mr. Rakes is eligible to participate in the Company's welfare plans and in the qualified pension plans that are made generally available to other senior executives of the Company. The Agreement also continues the executive benefits and perquisites that Mr. Rakes was entitled to receive in his prior executive employment agreement.

Should Mr. Rakes die during the term of the Agreement, his beneficiary will receive 3 months' base salary and welfare and executive benefits for 3 months. If Mr. Rakes' employment is terminated because of long term incapacity, as that term is defined in the Agreement, Mr. Rakes will receive base salary (reduced by amounts paid under the Company's disability insurance plan), welfare and executive benefits for 24 months after termination. If the Company terminates Mr. Rakes' employment without cause or if Mr. Rakes terminates his employment for good reason, as those terms are defined in the Agreement, Mr. Rakes will receive his annual base salary for 24 months, payable in monthly installments. He will also be entitled to continue to receive welfare and executive benefits for 24 months after termination. If Mr. Rakes is terminated for cause, which is defined in the agreement, the Company will pay his base compensation through the date of his termination and will pay him other amounts that have accrued but not been paid at that time. Unless the Agreement is terminated by the Company without cause or by Mr. Rakes for good reason, Mr. Rakes will be subject to a 24-month non-competition provision.

The Agreement includes terms governing Mr. Rakes' employment after a change in control of the Company. Change in control is defined in the document. If a change in control takes place, the then-current term of the Agreement will be automatically extended to the third anniversary of the change in control date, and it may be renewed for successive one-year terms. If Mr. Rakes is terminated by the Company without cause or he terminates his employment for good reason during this period, he will be entitled to base salary and other amounts that have accrued but not been paid. He will also be entitled to receive a salary continuance benefit of 2.99 times his average annual compensation includable in annual gross income for income tax purposes for the 5 most recent taxable years ending before the date of the change in control. If termination after a change in control had taken place in 2008, the salary continuance benefit would have been $1,314,457. In addition, under these circumstances, Mr. Rakes would be entitled to continuation of welfare and executive benefits for 36 months following the date of his termination. Mr. Rakes would also be entitled to receive 4 additional years of service credit under the retirement plans in which he is participating at the time of termination.

Executive Employment Agreement for F. Brad Denardo, Executive Vice President and Treasurer

On December 17, 2008, the Company entered into an executive employment agreement (the Agreement) with F. Brad Denardo, Executive Vice President and Treasurer. The Agreement is effective on December 31, 2008 and has a two-year term which may be extended for successive one-year periods. This agreement replaces a change in control agreement dated January 8, 2003, between the Company and Mr. Denardo, and it is compliant with the provisions of Internal Revenue Code Section 409A. Under the Agreement, Mr. Denardo will receive a base annual salary of not less than his current salary of $220,000. The Agreement provides that Mr. Denardo is eligible to participate in the Company's welfare plans and in the qualified pension plans that are made generally available to other senior executives of the Company. The Company will also pay or provide for certain executive benefits, including an appropriate automobile, reasonable country club dues and reimbursement for personal benefits approved by the Board of Directors in a reasonable amount that further a proper corporate purpose.

If the Company terminates Mr. Denardo's employment without cause or if he terminates his employment for good reason, as those terms are defined in the Agreement, Mr. Denardo will be entitled to receive his annual base salary for 12 months, payable in monthly installments. He will also be entitled to receive welfare and executive benefits for 12 months after termination. If Mr. Denardo is terminated for cause, which is defined in the agreement, the Company will pay his base compensation through the date of his termination and will pay him other amounts that have accrued but not been paid at that time. Unless the Agreement is terminated by the Company without cause or by Mr.

Denardo for good reason, Mr. Denardo will be subject to a 12-month non-competition provision.

The Agreement includes terms governing Mr. Denardo's employment after a change in control of the Company. Change in control is defined in the document. If a change in control takes place, the then-current term of the Agreement will be automatically extended to the second anniversary of the change in control date, and it may be renewed for successive one-year terms. If Mr. Denardo is terminated by the Company without cause or if he terminates his employment for good reason during this period, he will be entitled to base salary and other amounts that have accrued but not been paid. He will also be entitled to receive a salary continuance benefit of 2 times his annual compensation includable in annual gross income for income tax purposes for the 5 most recent taxable years ending before the date of the change in control. If termination after a change in control had taken place in 2008, the salary continuance benefit would have been $285,052. Under these circumstances, Mr. Denardo would also be entitled to continuation of welfare and executive benefits for 24 months following termination.

Under the Agreement, Mrs. Buhyoff will receive a base annual salary of not less than her current salary of $137,000. The Agreement provides that Mrs. Buhyoff is eligible to participate in the Company's welfare plans and in the qualified pension plans that are made generally available to other senior executives of the Company.
