Semi-Annual Report

The Central Europe and

Russia Fund, Inc.

LETTER TO THE SHAREHOLDERS

Dear Shareholder,

For the fiscal half-year ended April 30, 2011, the Central Europe and Russia Fund's total return based on net asset value was 19.06% in US dollar (USD) terms, while its total return based on market value was 19.34%. The Fund's benchmark, the MSCI Emerging Europe Index, returned 20.24% on a cumulative basis during the same period.¹ Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Please see page 3 for complete performance results.

Emerging Europe turned in a strong fiscal half-year ended April 30, 2011, led by Russian equities, which were up close to 30% in US dollar (USD) terms in the period, as represented by the MSCI Russia Index.² Equities in the CEE3 (Czech Republic, Hungary, and Poland) also posted healthy gains ranging from 16.7%–21.2%, with Turkey being the laggard, remaining flat for the period. Currencies across the region were equally strong, from +15% for the Russian ruble and over 21% rise for the Hungarian forint versus the USD. The Turkish lira fell by 1% versus the USD in the period.

The Russian equity market benefited from high commodity prices, particularly oil, while the CEE3 benefited from the positive influence that the strong German economy has upon the business climate in the region (CEE3 economies tend to be export driven, and the bulk of their exports are to Western Europe, primarily Germany). For the second quarter in a row, Turkish equities were the region's laggards (as seen from the CEE3's core markets perspective).

Much of the weakness seen in the Turkish equity market in the first fiscal half-year ended April 30, 2011 can be attributed to two issues: 1) the unrest in the Middle East and North Africa (MENA), where a number of Turkish companies have significant operations; and 2) the unconventional path the Central Bank of Turkey has taken towards monetary policy (keeping interest rates low in an effort to limit the Turkish lira's appreciation or weakening the currency while limiting credit growth through higher reserve requirements). These policies have raised concerns over the banking sector's ability to grow earnings. As a result, the shares of Turkish banks have underperformed their regional peers and the Turkish market over the past fiscal half-year ended April 30, 2011.

From a sector perspective, the top contributors in the fiscal half-year ended April 30, 2011, included telecommunication services, materials, and financials. The Fund's underweight in telecoms and financials proved beneficial in a period where both sectors ranked among the worst performers. The Fund's strong overweight in the materials sector made it the second-best contributor in the period.³ Top detractors include consumer staples, industrials, and energy. While the fund was underweight in the staples sector, Central European Distribution Corp., a vodka producer and liquor distributor in central and eastern Europe held in the fund, fell by close to 57% in the period after issuing a profit warning. In the energy sector, while stock-picking proved beneficial, the sector's underweight versus the benchmark hurt relative performance.

The Fund's discount to net asset value averaged 9.11% for the period in review, compared with 11.39% for the same period a year earlier.

The second half of the year 2011 may well prove to be more difficult for global equity markets given a number of headwinds that are developing. We expect markets in the developed world as well as in Emerging Europe to experience significant volatility in the April-to-June time frame due to a growing number of "concern" factors which include worries over the European sovereign debt crisis; uncertainty over the impact (if any) of the US Federal

Reserve Board's (the Fed's) second quantitative easing (QE2) program ending in June; near-term consequences of the Japanese earthquake and tsunami to corporate profits; monetary tightening in the Eurozone; geopolitical events particularly in the MENA region; and inflationary pressures due to higher commodity prices and their impact on consumers, as well as on corporate profit margins.⁴

We believe it is unlikely that the markets will continue to move higher without a period of consolidation and heightened volatility. We would not be surprised if a "growth scare" or talk of a period of "stagflation" were to hit the markets at some point in the near future.⁵ This would present an opportunity to buy shares we find interesting at lower levels.

Given CEE3's current positioning, the most significant risks to relative performance are a continuation of the strong performance from the Russian oil and gas stocks, especially Gazprom, where we hold below benchmark weights; and a sharp decline in the Turkish equity market and/or a depreciation of the Turkish lira, triggered by the recent election or increased concern over the extremely high current account deficit. The most significant risk to absolute return for the Fund is a sharp decline/collapse in commodity prices and commodity-related shares, particularly oil.

1 The Morgan Stanley Capital International (MSCI) Emerging Europe Index is a free-float-adjusted market-capitalization-weighted index that is designed to measure the equity market performance of the emerging-market countries of Europe. Index returns assume reinvestment of dividends and, unlike Fund returns, do not reflect any fees or expenses. It is not possible to invest directly into an index.

2 The MSCI Russia Index is a free-float-adjusted market-capitalization-weighted index that is designed to measure the equity market performance of the Russian securities.

3 "Overweight" means the Fund holds a higher weighting in a given sector or security than the benchmark. "Underweight" means the Fund holds a lower weighting.

4 Eurozone refers to a currency union among the European Union member states that have adopted the euro as their sole currency. MENA refers to Middle East and North Africa regions.

5 Stagflation: An economic condition of both continuing inflation and stagnant business activity.

INTERVIEW WITH THE VICE PRESIDENT AND LEAD PORTFOLIO MANAGER —

RAINER VERMEHREN

Question: The portfolio is somewhat overweight in Russia. Is the country winning back investor credibility?

Answer: The long-term positive correlation between the absolute level of the crude oil price and the investor's relative preference for Russia has reasserted itself in the first few months of this year. Fund flows to Russia-dedicated funds in the last weeks of 2010 and into 2011 support the view that investors are coming back to this market. Evidence of this turnaround is seen not only in portfolio flows, but also in corporate activity such as Rosneft's announcement of exploration co-operation with Exxon Mobil in the Black Sea; and PepsiCo being allowed to take over Wimm-Bill-Dann foods. Finally, the recent path of the crude oil price suggests that the Russian market is due to see renewed momentum in earnings per share (EPS) growth.¹ We believe this will be an important signal, especially to those investors more cynical about the investment prospects in that country.

Question: Some claim that Hungary's economy is lifting out of a five-year slump. Do you share this view?

Answer: The key dynamic for Hungary right now is the strength of the German economy, which encompasses its own export sector, investment and now also consumption. Cyclically, Hungary is well placed to benefit as an economy and we believe that retail sales, a proxy measure for the economy, will begin to grow again on a year-over-year (YoY) basis. Supporting the pull-up in demand is the prospect of personal income tax rates being slashed to the 16% level, moving from the progressive system currently in place. The "man on the street" in Hungary is likely going to feel richer as a result of this change, perhaps less worried about his pension than the stock market investor worried about overhangs. Large uncertainties remain, however, including the general concern over "riskier" sovereigns, which Hungary is firmly in the camp of after its recent debt rating agency downgrades to the edge of investment grade. Also, the path of fiscal policy and the path of monetary policy lead to further uncertainty following three interest rate hikes imposed by the Hungarian Central Bank and with the upcoming prospect of a changing of the guard at that institution. While some aspects are turning more positive, we have not become exuberant yet, keeping in mind the new media law (allowing greater state intervention) and other reforms that have weighed on investor sentiment in the recent past.

Question: How is the fund currently positioned within the markets in which it invests?

Answer: The Fund heads into the second half of fiscal 2011 with approximately two-thirds of its assets allocated to Russian-related shares, putting it moderately overweight in Russia relative to its benchmark (BM), the MSCI

Emerging Europe Index. Within the Russian portion of the portfolio, the significant overweight positions are plays on the domestic economy where we see robust demand growth coming through and signs of potential pickup in fixed-asset investment. The Fund also holds an above BM weight in Turkish equities where the Fund's focus is skewed towards industrials rather than the market-dominating banking sector. We believe that Turkish banks are likely to see earnings decline in 2011 on a YoY basis given the impact of higher reserve requirements and the high base in 2010 (strong 2010 results were at least partially driven from Treasury gains that are unlikely to be repeated this year). The Fund is underweight in each of the CEE3 markets, with the bulk of CEE's exposure to these markets residing in financials and a couple of procyclical, commodity-related names.² In the short term especially, Polish stocks might be capped on their performance due to the still significant privatization pipeline of the Polish Treasury.

1 EPS (earnings per share) — An indicator of a company's profitability, EPS represents the portion of a company's profit allocated to each outstanding share of common stock.

2 The CEE3 markets represent the markets in the Czech Republic, Poland and Hungary.

Fair Value Measurements

Various inputs are used in determining the value of the Fund's investments. These inputs are summarized in three broad levels. Level 1 includes quoted prices in active markets for identical securities. Level 2 includes other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices for similar securities, interest rates, prepayment speeds and credit risk). Level 3 includes significant unobservable inputs (including the Fund's own assumptions in determining the fair value of investments). The inputs or methodology used for valuing securities are not necessarily an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities.

The following is a summary of the inputs used as of April 30, 2011 in valuing the Fund's investments. For information on the Fund's policy regarding the valuation of investments, please refer to the Security Valuation section of Note 1 in the accompanying Notes to Financial Statements.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS — APRIL 30, 2011 (unaudited)

NOTE 1. ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The Central Europe and Russia Fund, Inc. (the "Fund") is a non-diversified, closed-end management investment company incorporated in Maryland. The Fund commenced investment operations on March 6, 1990.

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies followed by the Fund in the preparation of its financial statements. The preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Security Valuation: The Fund calculates its net asset value per share for publication at 11:30 a.m., New York time.

Various inputs are used in determining the value of the Fund's investments. These inputs are summarized in three broad levels. Level 1 includes quoted prices in active markets for identical securities. Level 2 includes other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices for similar securities, interest rates, prepayment speeds, and credit risk). Level 3 includes significant unobservable inputs (including the Fund's own assumptions in determining the fair value of investments). The inputs or methodology used for valuing securities are not necessarily an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities.

Equity securities are valued at the most recent sale price or official closing price reported on the exchange (US or foreign) or over-the-counter market on which they trade prior to the time of valuation and are categorized as Level 1 securities. Securities for which no sales are reported are valued at the calculated mean between the most recent bid and asked quotations on the relevant market or, if a mean cannot be determined, at the most recent bid quotation.

Money market instruments purchased with an original or remaining maturity of sixty days or less, maturing at par, are valued at amortized cost, which approximates value, and are categorized as Level 2. Investments in open-end investment companies are valued at their net asset value each business day and are categorized as Level 1.

Securities and other assets for which market quotations are not readily available or for which the above valuation procedures are deemed not to reflect fair value are valued in a manner that is intended to reflect their fair value as determined in accordance with procedures approved by the Board and are generally categorized as Level 3. In accordance with the Fund's valuation procedures, factors used in determining value may include, but are not limited to, the type of the security; the size of the holding; the initial cost of the security; the existence of any contractual restrictions on the security's disposition; the price and extent of public trading in similar securities of the issuer or of comparable companies; quotations or evaluated prices from broker-dealers and/or the appropriate stock exchange (for exchange-traded securities); an analysis of the company's or issuer's financial statements; an evaluation of the forces that influence the issuer and the market(s) in which the security is purchased and sold and with respect to debt securities; the maturity, coupon, creditworthiness, currency denomination, and the movement of the market in which the security is normally traded. The value determined under these procedures may differ from published values for the same securities.

Disclosure about the classification of the fair value measurements is included in a table following the Fund's Schedule of Investments.

Securities Transactions and Investment Income: Investment transactions are accounted for on a trade date plus one basis for daily net asset value calculations. However, for financial reporting purposes, investment transactions are reported on trade date. Interest income is recorded on the accrual basis. Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date net of foreign withholding taxes. Certain dividends from foreign securities may be recorded subsequent to the ex-dividend date as soon as the Fund is informed of such dividends. Realized gains and losses from investment transactions are recorded on an identified cost basis.

Securities Lending: The Fund lends securities to certain financial institutions. The Fund retains beneficial ownership of the securities it has loaned and continues to receive interest and dividends paid by the issuer of securities and to participate in any changes in their market value. The Fund requires the borrowers of the securities to maintain collateral with the Fund consisting of either cash or liquid, unencumbered assets having a value in excess of the value of the securities loaned. When the collateral falls below specified amounts, the lending agent will use its best effort to obtain additional collateral on the next business day to meet required amounts under the security lending agreement. The Fund may invest the cash collateral into a joint trading account in an affiliated money market fund pursuant to Exemptive Orders issued by the SEC. Deutsche Investment Management Americas Inc. receives a management/administration fee (0.10% annualized effective rate as of April 30, 2011) on the cash collateral invested in the affiliated money fund. The Fund receives compensation for lending its securities either in the form of fees or by earning interest on invested cash collateral net of borrower rebates and fees paid to a lending agent. Either the Fund or the borrower may terminate the loan. There may be risks of delay and costs in recovery of securities or even loss of rights in collateral should the borrower of the securities fail financially. The Fund is subject to all investment risks associated with the reinvestment of any cash collateral received including, but not limited to, interest rate, credit and liquidity risk associated with such investments.

THE CENTRAL EUROPE AND RUSSIA FUND, INC.

Foreign Currency Translation: The books and records of the Fund are maintained in United States dollars.

Assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currency are translated into United States dollars at the 11:00 a.m. midpoint of the buying and selling spot rates quoted by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. Purchases and sales of investment securities, income and expenses are reported at the rate of exchange prevailing on the respective dates of such transactions. The portion of both realized and unrealized gains and losses on investments that results from fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates is not separately disclosed but is included with net realized and unrealized gain/appreciation and loss/depreciation on investments.

Contingencies: In the normal course of business, the Fund may enter into contracts with service providers that contain general indemnification clauses. The Fund's maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown as this would involve future claims that may be made against the Fund that have not yet occurred. However, based on experience, the Fund expects the risk of loss to be remote.

Taxes: No provision has been made for United States Federal income tax because the Fund intends to meet the requirements of the United States Internal Revenue Code applicable to regulated investment companies and to distribute substantially all of its taxable income to shareholders.

Additionally, based on the Fund's understanding of the tax rules and rates related to income, gains and transactions for the foreign jurisdictions in which it invests, the Fund will provide for foreign taxes, and where appropriate, deferred foreign taxes.

For United States Federal income tax purposes, the Fund had a capital loss carryforward at October 31, 2010 of approximately $19,342,000 which may be applied against any realized net taxable capital gains of each succeeding year until fully utilized or until October 31, 2017, whichever occurs first.

On December 22, 2010, the Regulated Investment Company Modernization Act of 2010 (the "Act") was enacted. Under the Act, net capital losses may be carried forward indefinitely, and their character is retained as short-term and/or long-term losses. Previously, net capital losses were carried forward for eight years and treated as short-term losses. As a transition rule, the Act requires that post-enactment net capital losses be used before pre-enactment net capital losses. As a result of this ordering rule, pre-enactment capital loss carryforwards may expire unused, whereas under the previous rules these losses may have been utilized. This change is effective for fiscal years beginning after the date of enactment.

The Fund has reviewed the tax positions for the open tax years as of October 31, 2010 and has determined that no provision for income tax is required in the Fund's financial statements. The Fund's federal tax returns for the prior three fiscal years remain open subject to examinations by the Internal Revenue Service.

Dividends and Distributions to Shareholders: The Fund records dividends and distributions to its shareholders on the ex-dividend date. Income and capital gain distributions are determined in accordance with United States Federal income tax regulations which may differ from accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. These differences primarily relate to investments in foreign denominated investments, investments in foreign passive investment companies, recognition of certain foreign currency gains (losses) as ordinary income (loss) and certain securities sold at a loss. As a result, net investment income (loss) and net realized gain (loss) on investment transactions for a reporting period may differ significantly from distributions during such period. Accordingly, the Fund may periodically make reclassifications among certain of its capital accounts without impacting the net asset value of the Fund.

The tax character of current year distributions will be determined at the end of the current fiscal year.

NOTE 2. MANAGEMENT AND INVESTMENT ADVISORY AGREEMENTS

The Fund has a Management Agreement with Deutsche Investment Management Americas Inc. (the "Manager"). The Fund has an Investment Advisory Agreement with Deutsche Asset Management International GmbH (the "Investment Adviser.") The Manager and the Investment Adviser are affiliated companies.

The Management Agreement provides the Manager with a fee, computed weekly and payable monthly, at the annual rates of 0.65% of the Fund's average weekly net assets up to $100 million, 0.55% of such assets in excess of $100 million and up to $500 million, 0.50% of such assets in excess of $500 million and up to $750 million, and 0.45% of such assets in excess of $750 million. The Investment Advisory Agreement provides the Investment Adviser with a fee, computed weekly and payable monthly, at the annual rates of 0.35% of the Fund's average weekly net assets up to $100 million and 0.25% of such assets in excess of $100 million.

Accordingly, for the six-months ended April 30, 2011, the combined fee pursuant to the Management and Investment Advisory Agreements was equivalent to an annualized effective rate of 0.82% of the Fund's average daily net assets.

Pursuant to the Management Agreement, the Manager is the corporate manager and administrator of the Fund and, subject to the supervision of the Board of Directors and pursuant to recommendations made by the Fund's Investment Adviser, determines the suitable securities for investment by the Fund. The Manager also provides office facilities and certain administrative, clerical and bookkeeping services for the Fund. Pursuant to the Investment Advisory Agreement, the Investment Adviser, in accordance with the Fund's stated investment objective, policies and restrictions, makes recommendations to the Manager with respect to the Fund's investments and, upon instructions given by the Manager as to suitable securities for investment by the Fund, transmits purchase and sale orders to select brokers and dealers to execute portfolio transactions on behalf of the Fund.

NOTE 3. TRANSACTIONS WITH AFFILIATES

DWS Investments Service Company ("DISC"), an affiliate of the Manager, is the transfer agent, dividend-paying agent and shareholder service agent of the Fund. Pursuant to a sub-transfer agency agreement between DISC and DST Systems, Inc. ("DST"), DISC has delegated certain transfer agent and dividend-paying agent paying functions to DST. DISC compensates DST out of the shareholder servicing fee it receives from the Fund. For the six-months ended April 30, 2011, the amount charged to the Fund by DISC aggregated $15,526, of which $2,901 is unpaid.

Deutsche Bank AG, the German parent of the Manager and the Investment Adviser, and its affiliates may receive brokerage commissions as a result of executing agency transactions in portfolio securities on behalf of the Fund, that the Board determined were effected in compliance with the Fund's Rule 17e-1 procedures. For the six-months ended April 30, 2011, Deutsche Bank did not receive brokerage commissions.

Certain Officers of the Fund are also officers of either the Manager or the Investment Adviser.

THE CENTRAL EUROPE AND RUSSIA FUND, INC.

The Fund pays each Director who is not an "interested person" of the Manager or Investment Adviser retainer fees plus specified amounts for attended board and committee meetings.

The Fund may invest uninvested cash balances in Central Cash Management Fund, which is managed by the Advisor. The Fund indirectly bears its proportionate share of the expenses of Central Cash Management Fund. Central Cash Management Fund does not pay the Advisor an investment management fee. Central Cash Management Fund seeks a high level of current income consistent with the liquidity and the preservation of capital.

NOTE 4. PORTFOLIO SECURITIES

Purchases and sales of investment securities, excluding short-term investments, for the six-months ended April 30, 2011 were $110,884,046 and $126,980,511, respectively.

NOTE 5. INVESTING IN FOREIGN MARKETS

Foreign investments may involve certain considerations and risks as a result of, among others, the possibility of political and economic developments, and the level of governmental supervision and regulation of foreign securities markets. In addition, certain foreign markets may be substantially smaller, less developed, less liquid and more volatile than the major markets of the United States. Any fund that focuses in a particular segment of the market will generally be more volatile than a fund that invests more broadly.

NOTE 6. CAPITAL

During the six-months ended April 30, 2011 and the year ended October 31, 2010, the Fund purchased 67,322 and 1,089,502 of its shares of common stock on the open market at a total cost of $2,978,238 and $36,822,546 ($44.24 and $33.80 average per share), respectively. The weighted average discount of these purchased shares comparing the purchased price to the net asset value at the time of purchase was 10.37% and 11.00%, respectively.
