Item 2.06. Material Impairments.

On June 30, 2005, the Senior Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer of Alliant Energy Corporation (the Company) concluded that the Company currently expects to incur a material non-cash asset valuation charge in the second quarter of 2005 as a component of the results from the Company's discontinued operations of the Company's generation assets in China. The Company's Board of Directors recently approved the divestiture of its investments in China as a result of its evaluation of strategic alternatives for this portfolio of generating assets. The Company is in the early stages of its divestiture plan for these assets and will be updating their estimated fair market value as required under the applicable accounting rules. The Company believes the estimated fair market value of these assets has deteriorated significantly during the second quarter of 2005 as a result of various developments including, but not limited to: (i) updated analyses of the China asset portfolio, including changes in the anticipated divestiture timelines and in the market and sales-related information received from the Company's financial advisors; (ii) updated market information, including terms of recent sales of similar assets in this market; and (iii) diminution in the Company's outlook for short-term progress regarding higher tariff relief for past and future increases in coal and transportation prices, and the impact of the related uncertainties in the marketplace regarding this issue.

Edgar Filing: ALLIANT ENERGY CORP - Form 8-K

An estimate of the amount or range of amounts of the impairment charge was not determinable at the time of filing this Form 8-K. However, because of the developments noted above, and based on preliminary information currently available, the Company estimates that a pre-tax non-cash asset valuation charge of up to one-half of the March 31, 2005 carrying value of the Company's China assets of approximately $190 million will be required in the second quarter of 2005. The Company and its financial advisors are in the process of analyzing the fair market value of these assets as of June 30, 2005. The Company will record a pre-tax non-cash asset valuation charge in the second quarter of 2005, as a component of the results from its discontinued operations, to the extent that the estimated fair market value, less anticipated selling costs, is below the carrying value of these assets. The Company will file an amendment to this Form 8-K within four business days after it makes a determination of such estimate.

The impairment charge will not result in future cash expenditures by the Company.

The press release the Company issued announcing the impairment charge discussed above is filed as Exhibit 99.1 and incorporated by reference herein.
