MAJORITY OF IPC SHAREHOLDERS SUPPORT VALIDUS
CALL FOR SPECIAL MEETING
Requisitions Total 54% of IPC Shares

Validus Extends Exchange Offer to Acquire IPC Shares

Hamilton, Bermuda June 29, 2009 Validus Holdings, Ltd. (Validus) (NYSE: VR) today announced that it has submitted to IPC Holdings, Ltd. (IPC) (NASDAQ: IPCR) requisitions from shareholders with aggregate ownership of approximately 54% of the outstanding common shares of IPC, showing strong support for Validus' acquisition of IPC. As Validus has submitted requisitions to IPC from shareholders representing 10% or more of the issued and outstanding common shares of IPC, the IPC Board is required by Bermuda law to call a special meeting of IPC shareholders. At the special meeting, among other proposals to be considered, Validus will seek to replace the IPC Board.

We are pleased that IPC shareholders have taken quick and decisive action to compel the IPC Board to call a special meeting, said Ed Noonan, Validus' Chairman and Chief Executive Officer. The high level of requisitions, along with the overwhelming rejection of the Max transaction, clearly demonstrates that IPC shareholders want the attractive economics of the Validus offer.

Under Validus' offer, IPC shareholders would receive $3.75 in cash and 1.1234 Validus voting common shares for each IPC common share for a total consideration of $28.24 based on Validus' closing price on June 26, 2009. The Validus offer provides IPC shareholders with a 24.9% premium based on IPC's and Validus' closing prices on March 30, 2009, the last trading day before the announcement of Validus' initial offer.

Mr. Noonan continued, "Once again, we urge IPC's Board to heed the message sent by its shareholders and agree to Validus' revised Amalgamation Agreement without delay. We have presented a very attractive offer to IPC, which includes a full and fair price for IPC shares, and have made a number of concessions to be responsive to concerns expressed by the IPC Board. If IPC executes Validus' revised Amalgamation Agreement, IPC shareholders will have the certainty of a transaction which is not subject to termination in the event of major catastrophe losses. IPC shareholders have clearly spoken: the IPC Board should not further delay or attempt to create roadblocks that prevent its shareholders from receiving the attractive economics of the Validus offer and prolong the uncertainty surrounding IPC's future direction.

In addition to seeking the replacement of the IPC Board with three highly qualified candidates at the special meeting, Validus will seek to eliminate or amend certain provisions in IPC's by-laws and to bind

IPC to its previously announced Scheme of Arrangement, if appropriate. While Validus believes that reaching a consensual amalgamation transaction would be in the best interests of IPC and its shareholders, Validus remains strongly committed to acquiring IPC and will continue to pursue alternative paths to complete a transaction, including its Exchange Offer and previously announced Scheme of Arrangement. With overwhelming evidence of IPC shareholder support for calling a special meeting, Validus will be submitting a new application with the Supreme Court of Bermuda to seek its approval to convene a court-ordered meeting of IPC's shareholders in connection with the Scheme of Arrangement.

Validus also announced today that it has extended its Exchange Offer for all of the outstanding common shares of IPC to 5:00 p.m., New York City time (6:00 p.m., Atlantic time), on Monday, July 6, 2009, unless extended. As of 5:00 p.m., New York City time (6:00 p.m., Atlantic time), on June 26, 2009, the previously scheduled expiration date, approximately 14,313,622 shares of IPC (including approximately 1,488,126 IPC shares subject to guaranteed delivery procedures) had been tendered in and not withdrawn from the Exchange Offer. Shareholder questions regarding the Exchange Offer or requests for offering documents should be directed to Validus Information Agent for the Exchange Offer, Georgeson Inc., toll-free at (800) 213-0317; banks and brokers should call: (212) 440-9800.

Once the special meeting has been called, Validus will send proxy materials enabling IPC shareholders to vote on Validus Board candidates and on the other proposals to be considered at the special meeting.
