Manager's Comments

Signs of the effect of the global economic slowdown on China are becoming clearer. Exports in October grew by only 0.1% y.o.y. Industrial production actually fell by 3.1% y.o.y. Company visits indicate some cooling in what has been a hot property market in the coastal cities. Savvy car buyers are holding off, awaiting price cuts which they anticipate will follow WTO entry. Economic growth remains more robust than in most parts of the world, and China continues to be successful in attracting foreign direct investment. But the Chinese economy needs strong growth to overcome its many structural problems - particularly if it is to re-employ those laid off in the process of state-owned enterprise reform, and absorb the overcapacity seen in many industries. For this reason we expect further fiscal measures to stimulate the economy and another interest rate cut. Deflation, not inflation, is the enemy.

The Chinese stockmarkets rallied over the past month, except for Hong Kong (HCI -4.0%) The rally was less pronounced in China (Shanghai A +3.4%) than in Taiwan (+11.3%), whose many exporters are highly sensitivity to the whims of the US consumer. The figures from the US have been better than feared in the wake of September 11th. Interest rates are now exceptionally low across greater China, and there is plenty of money ready to chase good turn-around stories. In Hong Kong, a number of small, private sector companies, to which this Fund has a relatively high weighting, have taken the opportunity to issue new shares, and one or two state-owned enterprises are attempting IPOs. That probably marks the close of this particular rally.

Investment strategy:

Your Fund is 89% invested and has holdings in 49 companies. Overall, the company's portfolio has a bias towards private sector companies and Taiwan-listed enterprises deriving the bulk of their profit from China.

During November, we took some profits on a few of the best performing smaller companies such as Xinao Gas, Euro-Asia and TPV. We also halved our remaining position in the oil sector, Sinopec, on the expectation of weaker crude oil prices. In Taiwan we sold Teco, whose merger with Sampo has failed to go through.

We have invested in two companies where we expect earnings to recover strongly in 2002: V-Tech (cordless phones, electronic toys) and EVA Airlines. In Taiwan, we have invested in Lian Hwa Foods (its second snack food factory has opened in Beijing) and the plastic autoparts maker Tong Yang, which now has six plants around China. We have added to positions in Asia Dekor, which we expect to benefit from strong home renovation demand in China, and Fountain Set, the world's leading maker of knitted yarn, which we believe to be trading at under 3X prospective earnings and an estimated cash yield of 9%.

Objective

The investment objective of the Fund is to achieve long term capital appreciation through investment in companies and other entities with significant assets, investments, production activities, trading or other business interests in China or which derive a significant part of their revenue from China. The Board of Directors of the Fund has adopted an operating policy of the Fund, effective June 30, 2001, that the Fund will invest at least 80% of its assets in China companies. For this purpose, "China companies" are (i) companies for which the principal securities trading market is in China; (ii) companies for which the principal securities trading market is outside of China or in companies organized outside of China, that in both cases derive at least 50% of their revenues from goods or services sold or produced, or have a least 50% of their assets in China; and (iii) companies organized in China. Under the new policy, China will mean the People's Republic of China, including Hong Kong, and Taiwan. The Fund will provide its stockholders with at least 60 days' prior notice of any change to the policy described above.

The fundamental policy, which applies to not less than 65% of the Fund's assets as set out in the Fund's prospectus dated July 10, 1992, remains in place. The fundamental policy is the same as the operating policy set out above, except that China only includes the People's Republic of China.
