[Email Letter to Bowater Employees]

January 29, 2007

Dear Colleague,

I am very pleased to tell you that today we are announcing that Abitibi-Consolidated and Bowater have agreed to combine our companies in an all-stock merger of equals. The new company, to be called AbitibiBowater Inc., will be a leader in the paper and forest products industry that will be stronger both operationally and financially and better positioned to meet the changing needs of our customers as we compete in an increasingly global market.

Combining our business with Abitibi-Consolidated will position the new company for far greater success than either company could have achieved alone. By establishing a larger and stronger organization that is better able to compete globally, this combination will create more opportunities and provide greater long-term security for the vast majority of employees at both companies.

As you know, we are operating in a challenging market environment. Newsprint demand has been lower, there are industry-wide efficiency and capacity challenges, new competition from overseas is coming, and our customers' needs continue to evolve. Given these realities, the best way to ensure a bright future for our employees, customers and shareholders is to take the bold step of creating a stronger merged company that can compete and grow.

By combining Abitibi-Consolidated and Bowater, we will be able to generate efficiencies that will further competitive pricing and lead to improved product quality, new product innovation and improved shipment times, while ensuring a steady supply stream for our customers in North America. These efficiencies will make AbitibiBowater Inc. a stronger competitor that is better positioned to prosper in a tough business.

You should know that the synergies we expect to realize from this merger are not predicated on a significant reduction in our workforce. Clearly, as we integrate the companies which will not take place until well after the closing there will likely be some overlap in administrative and corporate functions, but the vast majority of employees will not be significantly affected by this merger.

Both Abitibi-Consolidated and Bowater have highly skilled work forces and complementary cultures that are focused on achieving operational excellence. Going forward, I am confident that AbitibiBowater Inc. will maintain this focus by tapping the best talent and adopting the best practices from each company.

It is important to realize, however, that this announcement is the first step in a long process. Before our companies can merge, certain conditions, such as shareholder and regulatory approvals, must be met. While we expect to receive the necessary approvals and to close the merger in the third quarter of 2007, until that time we must continue to operate as independent companies.

AbitibiBowater Inc. will be headquartered in Montreal, Canada with a U.S. regional manufacturing and sales office in Greenville. John Weaver, Abitibi-Consolidated's CEO, will be Executive Chairman of the combined company and I will serve as President and Chief Executive Officer, with primary responsibility for operations and sales.

We just finished 2006 with an outstanding safety improvement. Significant change like this can cause us to lose focus on being safe - let's keep our eye on continuing to improve.

Thank you again for your continued dedication and commitment. Your hard work in building Bowater has given us this exciting growth opportunity. We are grateful for the contributions you have made, and will continue to make, to our company.

Sincerely,

Dave Paterson
