 - adverse changes in our loan portfolio and credit risk-related losses and expenses;
- concentrations within our loan portfolio, including our exposure to commercial real estate loans, and to our primary service area;

Appendix A

Pre-credit, core earnings per share is a non-GAAP financial measure. The most directly comparable GAAP financial measure is earnings per share. Republic's management calculates pre-credit, core earnings per share to exclude unusual or extraordinary credit related costs, OTTI impairment charges, merger-related expenses and extraordinary FDIC assessments. This non-GAAP information should not be viewed as a substitute for operating performance measures determined in accordance with GAAP, nor is it necessarily comparable to non-GAAP performance measures similarly titled that may be presented by other companies. Management believes this information is meaningful for shareholders to evaluate Republic's operating performance because it excludes some of the impact of market volatility as it relates to investments in the securities portfolio, extraordinary costs associated with an abandoned merger and FDIC assessment costs and an extraordinary provision for loan losses and OREO costs. Management believes that pre-credit, core earnings per share provides a more normalized measure of operating performance.
