E-mail to be sent by Steven R. Shaw on February 25, 2002:

"Just a few words to our E&P employees working outside Tulsa -

I'm excited about this combination. Our new company, Cimarex Energy Co., will offer a solid asset base grounded in the Mid-Continent and enough assets in the remainder of the U.S. to evaluate opportunities as well as operate from California to Wyoming through the Mid-Continent to South Texas and Mississippi.

As a company, we will not only be focused on drilling opportunities but also on workovers, recompletions and acquisitions. However, I know that all of the ideas we may have in the office are useless without the implementation, which only happens through you. Your continued support through performing your jobs is appreciated, and I will attempt to get to the field over the next few weeks to answer as many questions as I can. We are also going to attempt to put together some answers in writing to commonly asked questions.

Later today we will be on our way to New York and then on to Boston to talk with our major investors as well as analysts. Otherwise I would be out to see you sooner."

HELMERICH & PAYNE TO SPIN-OFF OIL & GAS DIVISION;

DIVISION TO COMBINE WITH KEY PRODUCTION CO.

Helmerich & Payne, Inc. ("H&P") (NYSE: HP) and Key Production Company, Inc. ("Key") (NYSE: KP) announced today that they have signed definitive agreements that provide for Helmerich & Payne to spin off its Oil and Gas Division to its shareholders and for this business to be combined with Key. The combined company, to be named Cimarex Energy Co., will be a new publicly-traded exploration and production company that, based on Key's current share price, will have a pro forma equity market value of approximately $600 million.

Under the terms of the various agreements, H&P will incorporate and spin off its Oil and Gas Division as a separate public company ("Cimarex") and distribute to the H&P shareholders all of the then outstanding common shares of Cimarex. A wholly-owned subsidiary of Cimarex will then merge with and into Key in a stock-for-stock transaction. In the spin-off, H&P shareholders will receive approximately 0.53 shares of Cimarex common stock for each share of H&P common stock, and in the merger, Key shareholders will receive one share of Cimarex common stock for each share of Key common stock. Upon completion of the transactions, holders of H&P outstanding common stock will own 65.25 percent of the common stock of Cimarex and Key shareholders will own 34.75 percent, in each case on a diluted basis.

Executive Comments

Hans Helmerich, CEO of H&P, noted: "We are very excited about this transaction, which will create a dynamic new independent oil and gas company. Cimarex will be well positioned for growth with a strong balance sheet to complement its skilled management team and robust portfolio of opportunities. H&P shareholders will now have additional flexibility in their holdings: shares of a pure-play drilling company and shares of an oil and gas enterprise, both with management teams that will be able to focus exclusively on their respective businesses."

F.H. (Mick) Merelli, Chairman and CEO of Key added, "Combining our company with H&P's high quality gas-oriented asset base and strong technical talent represents a unique opportunity, resulting in a new company that is well positioned financially and organizationally to be a top competitor. Because of our asset overlap, our low debt, and our common business philosophies, Cimarex will be able to hit the ground running. We intend to profitably grow Cimarex's proved reserves and production through a balanced mix of exploration, exploitation and acquisitions. At the same time, we will keep a keen eye on the economics of our activity and measure our overall progress based on per-share results."

Mick Merelli will be Chairman, CEO, and President of Cimarex and H&P Vice President of E&P, Steve Shaw, will become Executive Vice President of Cimarex. The remainder of the executive team will include three representatives from H&P and four from Key. The Cimarex board of directors will consist of nine members, including five H&P designees and four Key designees. Corporate headquarters for Cimarex will be in Denver, operational headquarters will be located in Tulsa. It is expected that substantially all of the current employees of Key and H&P's Oil and Gas Division will become employees of Cimarex.

Combining recently reported financial and operating information for H&P's Oil and Gas Division and Key, other pro forma composite statistics for Cimarex include:

- o Proved reserves of 392 billion cubic feet equivalent ("bcfe") as of December 31, 2001, of which 78% is natural gas and 98% is proved developed;
- o EBITDAX for the twelve months ended December 31, 2001, of approximately $226 million;
- o Estimated pro forma combined production for 2002 of approximately 190 million cubic feet equivalent per day;
- o Fiscal 2002 combined capital budget of $110 - $115 million;
- o Production operations that are concentrated 64% in the Mid-Continent region, primarily in Oklahoma and Kansas;
- o An attractive inventory of exploratory drilling opportunities located principally in the Mid-Continent region and the onshore coastal areas of Texas and Louisiana.

Transaction Details

Edgar Filing: HELMERICH & PAYNE INC - Form 425

The boards of directors of H&P and Key have each unanimously approved the contemplated transaction. The transaction will close after receipt of necessary Key shareholder and regulatory approvals, including the receipt of a favorable letter ruling from the Internal Revenue Service. Closing will likely occur in the third calendar quarter of 2002. Approval of the transaction by H&P's shareholders will not be required. Subject to a favorable IRS ruling, it is anticipated that the transaction will be tax free to H&P and will be tax deferred to the shareholders of H&P and Key. Application will be made for Cimarex shares to be listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Because H&P shareholders will own a majority of the shares of Cimarex after the merger, it is anticipated that the surviving accounting entity for financial reporting purposes will be H&P's Oil and Gas Division and the merger will be accounted for as a purchase of Key by H&P's Oil and Gas Division. Although not a condition to the merger, it is also expected the combined entity will seek to change its method of accounting for oil and gas properties to "full cost" from the "successful efforts" method currently utilized by H&P. Cimarex also plans to change to a fiscal year that ends on December 31 versus the September 30 year-end presently used by H&P.

Petrie Parkman & Co. was financial adviser to H&P for this transaction. Merrill Lynch & Co. acted as the financial adviser to Key and provided a fairness opinion regarding the Merger. Legal advisers included Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP for H&P and Shearman & Sterling and Holme Roberts & Owen for Key.

Key also announced today that its board of directors has adopted a shareholder rights plan. In adopting the plan, the board declared a dividend distribution of one common share purchase right for each outstanding share of common stock of Key, payable to stockholders of record at the close of business on March 7, 2002.

Helmerich & Payne, Inc

H&P officers, other than Steve Shaw, will continue in their current positions with H&P and all H&P assets, other than those directly associated with H&P's oil and gas division, will remain with H&P Inc. H&P also released EBITDA and earnings ranges for FY 2003 and FY 2004, anticipating the spin/merge to be completed during the last quarter of FY 2002. Ranges of estimates are based on average U.S. land rig dayrates (for Case 1) of approximately $11,000 per day, held flat, and (for Case 2) an improving dayrate over the 2 year period, reaching an average of approximately $14,000 per day for FY 2004. Estimates assume the completion of the Company's current FlexRig III construction program, with 10 rigs being completed in FY 2002 and 15 being completed in FY 2003.

Given these assumptions, Case 1 EBITDA estimates are $3.00 and $3.13 per share for 2003 and 2004, respectively, and net income estimates are $.84 and $.80 per share for 2003 and 2004. Case 2 EBITDA estimates are $3.50 and $4.70 per share for 2003 and 2004, respectively, and net income estimates of $1.14 and $1.75 per share for 2003 and 2004.
