After the completion of the capitalisation of capital fund and surplus reserve fund, the Company's total share capital increased from RMB7.2 billion to RMB10.8 billion.

3. Major reasons for turning losses into profits in the results for the period

In 2013, the operation of the Company's petrochemical industry remained steady with a basically stable market supply and demand and the further deepening of its structural adjustment. In 2013, the Company substantially strengthened its capabilities in high-sulphur crude oil processing, thus lowering its procurement cost for crude oil. It increased its production capacity for refined oil, and optimised its refined oil product mix upon the completion and operation of the Refinery Revamping Expansion project. These factors led to a significant increase in profit for the Company's refining business. Meanwhile, the Company optimised the feedstock for its downstream ethylene and aromatics plants. With the petrochemical market becoming stable after hitting bottom, profitability of the Company's petrochemical products has improved slightly, with an annual results for this sector maintained at a similar level as compared to the same period of last year.

The forecasts above represent preliminary estimates. Specific and accurate financial figures will be disclosed in the audited 2013 Annual Report to be officially announced by the Company. Investors are advised to pay attention to investment risks.
