(Commission File No. 000-19528)

The following is an excerpt from the transcript of the earnings conference call held by Broadcom Limited (Broadcom), regarding the financial performance of Broadcom for the fourth fiscal quarter and fiscal year ended October 29, 2017, which excerpt relates to the proposed acquisition of Qualcomm Incorporated (Qualcomm):

Finally, before we open the call up for questions, I do want to briefly address where we stand with redomiciliation and Qualcomm.

First, on redomiciliation. On November 2, I think as everybody knows, we announced our intent to initiate a redomiciliation process to change the parent company of the Broadcom corporate group from a Singapore company to a U.S. corporation. The redomiciliation will occur whether or not there is corporate tax reform in the United States. The redomiciliation is subject to a shareholder vote and is expected to be effected in a manner intended to be tax-free to shareholders. We are confident that our shareholders will support this move. The final form and timing of the redomiciliation and shareholder vote will depend in part, on tax reform efforts in the United States.

On the Qualcomm front, on November 6, we made a proposal to acquire Qualcomm for a per share consideration of $70.00 in cash and stock. Our proposal represents a 28% premium over the closing price of Qualcomm common stock on November 2, 2017, the last unaffected trading day, and a premium of 33% to Qualcomm's unaffected 30-day volume-weighted average price. We expect that the proposed transaction would be completed within approximately 12 months following the signing of a definitive agreement.

Earlier this week, on December 4, we notified Qualcomm of our intention to nominate a slate of 11 independent, highly qualified individuals for election to the Qualcomm Board at the 2018 Annual Meeting of Stockholders, which Qualcomm has announced will be held on March 6, 2018. The highly-qualified slate brings significant technology sector, financial and operational experience. While we have taken this step, it remains our strong preference to engage in a constructive dialogue with Qualcomm.

We firmly believe that this complementary transaction will position the combined company as a global communications leader, enabling us to deliver more advanced semiconductor solutions for our global customers and drive enhanced shareholder value. We continue to receive positive feedback from stockholders and customers. In addition, after having had initial meetings with certain relevant antitrust authorities, we remain confident that any regulatory requirements necessary to complete a combination will be met in a timely manner. Given our common strengths and shared focus on technology innovation, we are confident we can quickly realize benefits for all stakeholders.

As a reminder, the purpose of today's call is to discuss our quarterly earnings. Please keep your questions focused on today's financial results. We will not be commenting in the Q&A on Qualcomm or the redomiciliation activities.

With that, let me turn it back to the operator.
