ORGANIZATIONAL UPDATE ON PLANNED MERGER

Midway through the year, we continue to make progress on our NorthStar strategy. The pending merger with MB Financial, Inc., is an important part of our ongoing journey, and the transaction is proceeding according to plan. While we are operating as separate companies pending regulatory and shareholder approval until the closing of the merger, we also are busy working on an integration plan to ensure the transition will be as smooth as possible.

Part of that work involves planning for who will lead the new Chicago organization. A few moments ago, Greg Carmichael shared some of those high-level decisions with employees in Chicago. As Greg said in his announcement, in addition to setting the stage for regional leadership, we also took the opportunity to examine the management structure of several of our businesses. I wanted to inform you of some resulting changes under the integration plan and provide additional context.

The move to split our national commercial specialty lines once the doors open on the new organization was driven by a spirit of opportunity and continuous improvement. We intend to broaden our commitment to deep, customized service within these lines with the restructure. Tom Partridge, who currently heads commercial specialty products, will focus on leading leveraged finance, asset securitization and dealer floor plan when the merger is completed. Tom has more than 20 years of experience with us, having led in a variety of capacities. Being dedicated to these specialty areas will enable him to expand his expertise in these very complex service areas.

Likewise, we'll sharpen our specialty focus and advisory skills through dedicated business heads in equipment finance and leasing and asset-based lending. Jill York, who currently manages leasing and indirect lending at MB, will head equipment finance and leasing in our combined organization. Indirect lending for recreational vehicles, boats and motorcycles will be under Jill's leadership, as she manages this business for MB today. Mike Sharkey, who currently oversees asset-based lending at MB, will lead our combined national asset-based lending business. Jill and Mike will report to Greg Schroeck. Both have a strong record of success and broad experience in banking and in leadership. Together with Tom and our other national business heads, they will help extend the trust and value clients place in us for smart, sustainable and customized solutions.

As noted in Greg's communication, we have other talent decisions yet to make. As these incremental decisions are finalized, we will communicate appropriately with employees.

I am excited about the opportunities in front of us in Chicago and all across our footprint. Our people, our products, our expertise and our service levels stand out in the marketplace. In bringing our very best, we enable our clients to achieve their very best. That's what banking at Fifth Third is all about!
