Net income for the quarter was NIS 6.6 million (US$ 1.5 million), or NIS 0.36 (US$ 0.08) per share, compared with NIS 6.0 million, or NIS 0.33 per share in the first quarter of 2004. Net income for the fourth quarter of 2004 was NIS 6.4 million.

"We are pleased to report significant progress in all business segments, in line with our strategies for establishing Internet Gold as a major player in Israel's rapidly developing communications space," commented Eli Holtzman, Internet Gold's CEO. "Our record revenues and strong net income reflect the strong momentum of our e-Advertising/Content, 015 international telephony service and value-added services businesses, together with the increasing subscriber base that is being built via all our activities.

"Progress in our 015 telephony business was particularly noteworthy during the quarter. After launching our commercial services, and in light of 015's ahead-of-schedule growth and profitability, we moved quickly to the next phase of our telephony strategy, cooperating with international carriers to provide hubbing and incoming call services. Launched only in January, these high-volume services have already made a significant contribution to 015 traffic and revenues while helping us decrease telephony transport costs. As lower-margin activities, these services reduced the quarter's gross margin to 51%, slightly above our target. Nonetheless, we have maintained a strong 12% operating margin, emphasizing our focus on the profitability of the Group."

Mr. Holtzman concluded, "In April, we completed an extremely successful bond offering, demonstrating the confidence with which the investment community regards our management and prospects. Looking forward, we believe that our acquisition and consolidation activities together with the ongoing expansion of our telephony and e-Advertising businesses will continue to build our revenues and profits. With the right strategies, a great team and a careful approach, we are working to take full advantage of the exciting potential in Israel's communications market."
