the 2003 Annual Meeting of Shareholders or the special meeting in lieu thereof; and two to serve for a term expiring on the date of the 2005 Annual Meeting of Shareholders or the special meeting in lieu thereof; and

- (ii) Consider whether to approve the conversion of the Trust from a closed-end investment company into an open-end investment company and certain related matters.

The Board of Trustees recommends that you vote for the nominees for trustee named in the accompanying Proxy Statement and against proposal (ii).

Whether or not you plan to attend the Meeting in person, it is important that your shares be represented and voted. After reading the enclosed notice and Proxy Statement, please complete, date, sign and return the enclosed proxy card at your earliest convenience. Your return of the proxy card will not prevent you from voting in person at the Meeting should you later decide to do so.

If you are a beneficial owner holding shares through a broker-dealer, please note that, under the rules of the New York Stock Exchange, broker-dealers may not vote your shares on the proposal described in paragraph (ii) above without your instructions. In addition, if you are a beneficial owner holding shares through a bank or trust company nominee, you may find that such nominee will not vote your shares in respect of some or all of the matters to be considered at the Meeting without your instructions. Accordingly, the Board of Trustees of the Trust urges all beneficial owners of shares who are not also record owners of such shares to contact the institutions through which their shares are held and give appropriate instructions, if necessary, to vote their shares. The Trust will also be pleased to cooperate with any appropriate arrangement pursuant to which beneficial owners desiring to attend the Meeting may be identified as such and admitted to the Meeting as shareholders.

Time will be provided during the Meeting for discussion, and shareholders present will have an opportunity to ask questions about matters of interest to them.

THE R.O.C. TAIWAN FUND PROXY STATEMENT

INTRODUCTION

This Proxy Statement is furnished in connection with the solicitation of proxies by the Board of Trustees (the 'Board of Trustees' or the 'Board') of The R.O.C. Taiwan Fund (the 'Trust') for use at the Annual Meeting (the 'Meeting') of holders (the 'Shareholders') of shares of beneficial interest of the Trust (the 'Shares') to be held at the offices of Paul, Weiss, Rifkind, Wharton & Garrison, 25th Floor, 1285 Avenue of the Americas, New York, New York on Thursday, June 20, 2002 at 9:30 a.m., New York City time, and at any adjournment thereof.

This Proxy Statement and the accompanying proxy are first being mailed to Shareholders on or about [May 1], 2002. Any Shareholder giving a proxy has the power to revoke it by mail (addressed to Marc E. Perlmutter, Assistant Secretary of the Trust, at the Trust's address at c/o Citigate Dewe Rogerson, Inc., 1440 Broadway, 16th Floor, New York, New York 10018) or in person at the Meeting, by executing a superseding proxy or by submitting a notice of revocation to the Trust. All properly executed proxies received by mail on or before the close of business on June 19, 2002 or delivered personally at the Meeting will be voted as specified in such proxies or, if no specification is made, for the nominees for election named and against proposal II described below in this Proxy Statement.

The Board of Trustees has fixed the close of business on Monday, April 15, 2002 as the record date for the determination of Shareholders entitled to notice of and to vote at the Meeting and at any adjournment thereof. Shareholders of record will be entitled to one vote for each Share. No Shares have cumulative voting rights for the election of trustees.

As of the record date, the Trust had outstanding 32,698,976 Shares. Abstentions and 'non-votes' will be counted as present for all purposes in determining the existence of a quorum. (A 'non-vote' occurs when a nominee (typically, a broker-dealer) holding shares for a beneficial owner attends a meeting with respect to such shares (in person or by proxy) but does not vote on one or more proposals because the nominee does not have discretionary voting power with respect to that matter and has not received instructions from the beneficial owner.) One third of the Trust's outstanding Shares, present in person or represented by proxy at the Meeting, will constitute a quorum for the transaction of business at the Meeting. The affirmative vote of a plurality of the Shares present or represented by proxy and voting on the matter in question at the Meeting will be required at the Meeting to elect the nominees for election as trustees. Proposal II below would require for its adoption the affirmative vote of a majority of all outstanding Shares.

Abstentions and 'non-votes' will not have the effect of votes in opposition to the election of a trustee. However, because proposal II below would require for its adoption the affirmative vote of a majority of all outstanding Shares, abstentions and 'non-votes' will have the effect of votes in opposition to the adoption of proposal II.

International Investment Trust Company Limited, the investment adviser and manager of the Trust (the 'Adviser'), knows of no business other than that mentioned in proposals I and II below that will be presented for consideration at the Meeting. If any other matter is properly presented, the persons named in the enclosed proxy will vote in accordance with their discretion.

The Adviser's address is 17th Floor, 167 Fu Hsing North Road, Taipei, Taiwan, Republic of China. The address of Citigate Dewe Rogerson, Inc., which provides certain administrative services for the Trust, is 1440 Broadway, 16th Floor, New York, New York 10018.

BENEFICIAL OWNERSHIP OF SHARES

The following table provides information, as of April [], 2002, except as noted, regarding the beneficial ownership of Shares by (i) each person or group known to the Adviser to be the beneficial owner of more than 5% of the Shares outstanding, (ii) each of the Trust's trustees or trustee nominees, (iii) each executive officer of the Trust and (iv) all trustees and executive officers of the Trust as a group. Except as noted, each of the named owners has sole voting and dispositive power over the Shares listed.

Name and Address of Beneficial Owner	Amount and Nature of Beneficial Ownership	Percent of Class
Lazard Freres & Co. LLC ("Lazard") 30 Rockefeller Plaza New York, New York 10020 U.S.A.	2,481,800 (1)	8.9%

Brinson Partners, Inc. ("BPI") 209 South LaSalle Chicago, Illinois 60604-1295 U.S.A.	1,939,580 (2)	5.9%

- (1) Based upon information provided by Lazard in a Statement on Schedule 13G filed on February 15, 2002 with respect to ownership as of December 31, 2001. In that statement Lazard reported that it held its Shares as investment adviser to clients whose portfolios were managed by it. Lazard stated that it had sole voting and sole dispositive power over such Shares.
- (2) Based upon information provided by BPI and UBS in a Statement on Schedule 13G jointly filed on February 19, 2002 with respect to ownership as of December 31, 2001. In that statement BPI reported that it held its Shares as investment adviser to clients whose portfolios were managed by it. UBS reported that its ownership included the Shares held by BPI as a result of UBS's status as parent of UBS (USA) Inc., which is a parent holding company of BPI. In addition, UBS held Shares in its status as investment adviser for

Edgar Filing: R O C TAIWAN FUND - Form PRE 14A

UBS (CH) Equity Fund Emerging Markets. BPI and UBS stated that they had sole voting and shared dispositive power over their Shares. BPI and UBS disclaimed beneficial ownership of such Shares.

I. ELECTION OF TRUSTEES

Since the inception of the Trust in 1989, the trustees of the Trust have been divided into three classes, each having a term of three years, with the term of one class expiring each year. The size of the Board was increased from eight to nine trustees prior to the 2001 Annual Meeting of Shareholders (the '2001 Annual Meeting'), which resulted in each of the Board's three classes consisting of three trustees following the 2001 Annual Meeting.

Subsequent to the 2001 Annual Meeting, three of the trustees on the Board resigned. Mr. Pedro-Pablo Kuczynski, who had served as a trustee since the inception of the Trust, resigned in June 2001 in connection with his appointment as the Minister of Finance and Economic Affairs of Peru. Mr. Daniel Chiang, who had been a trustee since 1994 and is also a former President of the Adviser, resigned in December 2001 in order to devote full attention to his other business activities. Mr. Yung-San Lee, who was elected to the Board for the first time at the 2001 Annual Meeting, resigned in January 2002 in connection with his appointment as the Finance Minister of the Republic of China. As a result of the foregoing, there were three vacancies on the Board at the end of January 2002.

At a meeting in February 2002, the Board of Trustees exercised its power to appoint new trustees to fill vacancies occurring on the Board and appointed Mr. Cheng-Cheng Tung as a trustee, subject to his also standing for election as a trustee at the Meeting. Because each of the Board's three classes in these circumstances must consist of at least two trustees, Mr. Tung was appointed to the Board position vacated by Mr. Lee and will, if elected at the Meeting, serve for a term expiring on the date of the 2003 Annual Meeting of Shareholders or the special meeting in lieu thereof (when the term of Mr. Lee otherwise would have expired). Mr. Tung currently serves as a Director and as the President of United World Chinese Commercial Bank, an affiliated shareholder of the Adviser, where he has worked in various capacities for more than 25 years.

The other two nominees for election to the Board at the Meeting are Mr. Michael Ding and Mr. Robert Parker. Each of Messrs. Ding and Parker currently is a trustee of the Trust and, if reelected, will serve for a term expiring on the date of the 2005 Annual Meeting of Shareholders or the special meeting in lieu thereof.

The Board of Trustees does not intend to reduce the size of the Board from nine trustees. Accordingly, the Nominating Committee of the Board of Trustees is considering appropriate candidates to fill the vacancies on the Board created by the resignations of Messrs. Kuczynski and Chiang. The Board anticipates that it will fill such vacancies after the Meeting, and prior to the end of 2002, by exercising its power to appoint new trustees to fill vacancies occurring on the Board and that a majority of the Board will at all times continue to consist of persons who are not 'interested persons' of the Trust, as that term is defined in the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the 'Investment Company Act').

The persons named in the accompanying proxy will, in the absence of contrary instructions, vote all proxies FOR the election of the three nominees listed below as trustees of the Trust. If any nominee should be unable to serve (an event not now anticipated), the proxies will be voted for such person, if any, as is designated by the Board of Trustees to replace such nominee. Proxies may not be voted for a greater number of persons than the number of nominees listed below under 'Information Concerning Nominees.'

Based upon the reviews, discussions and consideration described above, the Audit Committee recommended to the Board of Trustees that the Trust's audited financial statements be included in its Annual Report to Shareholders for the Trust's fiscal year ended December 31, 2001.

II. CONVERSION OF THE TRUST FROM A CLOSED-END INVESTMENT COMPANY TO AN OPEN-END INVESTMENT COMPANY

BACKGROUND AND SUMMARY

The Trust is registered as a closed-end investment company under the Investment Company Act and has operated as a closed-end fund since the reorganization of The Taiwan (R.O.C.) Fund (which was an open-end fund not registered in the United States) into the Trust on May 19, 1989. The Trust's Amended and Restated Declaration of Trust (the 'Declaration of Trust') and By-Laws provide that the Board of Trustees is required to submit to the Shareholders at their next annual meeting a binding resolution to convert the Trust into an open-end investment company if the Shares trade on the New York Stock Exchange (the 'NYSE') at an average discount from their net asset value ('NAV') of more than 10% during any twelve-week period beginning after the most recent such vote (which in the current case occurred at last year's annual meeting). For these purposes the average variation of the trading price of the Shares from their NAV is determined on the basis of such variances as of the last trading day in each week. The affirmative vote of a majority of the outstanding Shares is required for the adoption of such a resolution.

By the terms of the Declaration of Trust, this requirement became effective on June 1, 1992, and since then the Shareholders have voted on such a resolution six times, in 1995 and each of the years from 1997 through 2001. In each instance the Board recommended that Shareholders vote against the resolution to convert the Trust into an open-end investment company, and such resolution was not adopted by the Shareholders. In the most recent vote, on June 21, 2001, 12.80% of the outstanding Shares were voted in favor of the proposal, 16.29% were voted against, and 70.91% were either not present at the meeting or were not voted on that particular matter.

After last year's vote, the Shares, like those of most other country funds, continued to trade at a discount. During each of the twelve-week periods beginning June 25, 2001 and ended April [], 2002, the Shares traded at an average discount of greater than 10%. Such average discount ranged from [12.73]% for the twelve weeks ended [September 10, 2001] to [15.12]% for the twelve weeks ended [December 28, 2001]. Thus, the Board of Trustees is required to submit to the Shareholders the proposal described herein.

On April [], 2002, the most recent trading date before the printing of this Proxy Statement, the Shares' trading price on the NYSE closed at a discount to NAV of []%. Conversion would eliminate the trading market in the Shares and provide each Shareholder with a continuing opportunity to redeem his Shares at their NAV. However, for the reasons described below, the Board of Trustees recommends, as it has in the past, that Shareholders vote against this proposal, which will be adopted, as provided in the Declaration of Trust, only if approved by holders of a majority of the outstanding Shares.

At meetings on December 4, 2001 and February 19, 2002, the Board of Trustees of the Trust reviewed, as it has in the past, information concerning the legal, operational and practical differences between closed-end and open-end investment companies, the Trust's performance to date as a closed-end fund, the historical relationship between the market price of the Shares and their NAV, the possible effects of conversion on the Trust, and alternatives to conversion, including liquidation of the Trust. At its meeting on February 19, 2002, the Board, including a majority of the trustees who are not interested persons (as defined in the Investment Company Act) of the Trust, unanimously concluded that it is in the best interests of the Trust and the Shareholders that the Trust remain a closed-end investment company.

The Board of Trustees and the Adviser continue to believe that conversion to an open-end investment company could adversely affect the functioning of the Trust's investment operations and its investment performance, as described below under 'Effect of Conversion on the Trust -- Portfolio Management.' They also believe that conversion could expose the Trust to the risk of a substantial reduction in its size and a corresponding loss of economies of scale and increase in its expenses as a percentage of NAV, as described below under 'Effect of Conversion on the Trust -- Potential Increase in Expense Ratio and Decrease in Size.'

In deciding how to recommend that the Shareholders vote on this matter, the Board of Trustees took note of the fact that, since the inception of the Trust in 1989 (although not in recent years), the Shares frequently have traded at a premium above NAV. (See below under 'Differences Between Open-end and Closed-end Investment Companies -- Fluctuation of Capital; Redeemability of Shares; Elimination of Discount and Premium.') The Shares' average annual discount/premium (determined by comparing the Shares' NAV to their closing price on the NYSE on each trading day) by year is as follows:

The Board of Trustees believes that eliminating the possibility of a discount would not justify the fundamental changes that conversion would entail to the Trust's portfolio management and operations, the risk of reduced size and the potential adverse effect on the Trust's investment performance. In order to reduce or eliminate the discount without impairing the Trust's closed-end format and the benefits it derives from that format, the Adviser has sought to increase awareness about the Trust through Shareholder and market communications and meetings with securities analysts and market professionals in the investment community specializing in the closed-end funds sector. While the Adviser's efforts in this respect have not eliminated the Shares' tendency in recent years to trade at a discount to NAV, the Board of Trustees believes that such efforts have had a favorable effect on Shareholder relations by keeping major Shareholders informed concerning the Trust's investment strategies and policies and impressing those Shareholders with the Board's and the Adviser's attentiveness to their concerns, as well as by informing the Board and the Adviser of those Shareholders' views concerning the Trust's management, strategies and policies.

In addition, in 1991 the Board of Trustees authorized a periodic share repurchase program under Rule 10b-18 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, pursuant to which purchases of Shares may be made by the Trust when the Shares trade at a discount to their NAV. Purchases under that program were made during the second half of 1991 and during May through July of 1997, and such purchases could be recommenced at any time after appropriate notice to Shareholders. However, the trustees believe, based upon both the Trust's own experience and information that the trustees have reviewed from time to time with respect to share repurchase programs implemented by other closed-end funds, that additional purchases of Shares by the Trust are unlikely to affect the discount to NAV at which the Shares may otherwise trade. In addition, any such purchases by the Trust would have the effect of reducing the funds available to the Trust for investment in the Taiwan market. Accordingly, the Board of Trustees currently has no plan or intention of causing the Trust to make further such purchases.

Shareholders also have the opportunity to purchase additional Shares in the market at the discounted price when the Shares trade below their NAV.

Edgar Filing: R O C TAIWAN FUND - Form PRE 14A

Shareholders who make such purchases could benefit in circumstances in which the gap between the NAV and the market price of the Shares shrinks after they make their purchases, especially when the NAV is also increasing as a result of increases in the value of the Trust's investments. The Shares' NAV at the end of each week is published in compilations of such information for all closed-end funds in publications such as The Wall Street Journal, The New York Times and Barron's; the daily NAV at the close of the preceding trading day in Taiwan can be obtained by calling the Trust at 1-800-343-9567 or by accessing the Trust's website at www.roctaiwanfund.com.

If this proposal is not approved, the Shares continue to trade at a discount and the average discount is again greater than 10% during a twelve-week period beginning after the date of the Meeting, the Board of Trustees and the Shareholders will have an opportunity to consider again converting the Trust into an open-end investment company. (The Board of Trustees may also decide at any time to present to the Shareholders the question of whether the Trust should be converted to an open-end investment company; however, under the Declaration of Trust such a voluntary submission would require the approval of two-thirds of the outstanding Shares for its adoption.)

As described below under 'Measures to be Adopted if the Trust Becomes an Open-end Fund -- Redemption Fee,' if the Shareholders vote to convert the Trust into an open-end fund, the Board of Trustees may cause the Trust to impose a fee payable to the Trust on all redemptions of up to 0.50% of redemption proceeds for a period of up to nine months from conversion.

DIFFERENCES BETWEEN OPEN-END AND CLOSED-END INVESTMENT COMPANIES

1. Fluctuation of Capital; Redeemability of Shares; Elimination of Discount and Premium. Closed-end investment companies generally do not redeem their outstanding shares or engage in the continuous sale of new securities, and thus operate with a relatively fixed capitalization. The shares of closed-end investment companies are normally bought and sold in the securities market at prevailing market prices, which may be equal to, less than or more than NAV. From May 12, 1989 to April [], 2002 the Shares traded on the NYSE at prices ranging from 31.55% below NAV (on April 27, 1990) to 35.36% above NAV (on December 31, 1993). The Shares most recently traded at a premium to their NAV on January 30, 1998. On April [], 2002, the most recent trading date before the printing of this Proxy Statement, the closing price of a Share on the NYSE was []% below its NAV. Although it is now possible, subject to certain restrictions, for both institutions and individuals outside Taiwan to invest directly in R.O.C. stocks, the Board of Trustees believes that many foreign investors, and particularly foreign individuals, continue to invest in the R.O.C. market through a managed intermediary like the Trust. The full liberalization of the right of foreign investors to invest in Taiwan has been in effect since 1996; however, additional alternatives to the Trust can be expected to develop as vehicles for investment in R.O.C. securities by investors outside the R.O.C., which could have the effect of reducing or eliminating (or changing to a discount) any premium, or increasing any discount, at which the Shares trade in relation to their NAV.

By contrast, open-end investment companies in the United States, commonly referred to as mutual funds, issue redeemable securities with respect to which, traditionally, no secondary trading market has been permitted to develop. (Although this has changed in recent years with the establishment of exchange-traded open-end index funds, it remains true that the vast majority of open-end funds, both in number and total assets, do not offer secondary market trading in their shares.) Except during periods when the NYSE is closed or trading thereon is restricted, or when redemptions may otherwise be suspended in an emergency as permitted by the Investment Company Act, the holders of these redeemable securities have the right to surrender them to the mutual fund and obtain in return their proportionate share of the mutual fund's NAV at the time of the redemption (less any redemption fee charged by the fund or contingent deferred sales charge imposed by the fund's distributor).

Most mutual funds also continuously issue new shares to investors at a price based upon their shares' NAV at the time of issuance. Accordingly, an open-end fund experiences continuing inflows and outflows of cash and may experience net sales or net redemptions of its shares.

Upon conversion of the Trust into an open-end investment company, Shareholders who wished to realize the value of their Shares would be able to do so by redeeming their shares at NAV (less the possible temporary redemption fee discussed below under 'Measures to be Adopted if the Trust Becomes an Open-end Fund -- Redemption Fee'). The trading market for the Shares would be eliminated, and with it the discount from NAV at which the Shares have periodically tended to trade on the NYSE. Conversion would also eliminate, however, any possibility that the Shares could trade at a premium over NAV. (See the chart on page 10 for information with regard to the periods during which the Shares have, on the average, traded at a premium to their NAV.)

2. Cash Reserves. Because closed-end investment companies are not required to meet redemptions, their cash reserves can be substantial or minimal, depending on the investment manager's investment strategy. The managers of many open-end investment companies, on the other hand, believe it desirable to maintain cash reserves adequate to meet anticipated redemptions without prematurely liquidating their portfolio securities. Although many open-end funds operate successfully in this environment, the maintenance of larger cash reserves required to operate prudently as an open-end investment company when net redemptions are anticipated may reduce an open-end investment company's ability to achieve its investment objective by limiting its investment flexibility and the scope of its investment opportunities. In addition, open-end investment companies are subject to a requirement that no more than 15% of their net assets may be invested in securities that are not readily marketable or are otherwise considered to be illiquid. However, the Trust currently does not invest in, nor does it anticipate investing in, illiquid securities to any material extent.

3. Raising Capital. Closed-end investment companies may not issue new shares at a price below NAV except in rights offerings to existing shareholders, in payment of distributions and in certain other limited circumstances. Accordingly, the ability of closed-end funds to raise new capital is restricted, particularly at times when their shares are trading at a discount to NAV. The shares of open-end investment companies, on the other hand, are offered by such companies (in most cases continuously) at NAV, or at NAV plus a sales charge, and the absence of a secondary trading market generally makes it impossible to acquire such shares in any other way. The Trust most recently raised additional capital in 1995, when it obtained net offering proceeds of approximately $64,000,000 upon the completion of a public offering of additional Shares at a small premium to NAV.

4. NYSE Delisting; State and Federal Fees on Sales of Shares. If the Trust converted to an open-end fund, the Shares would immediately be delisted from the NYSE. Some investment managers believe that the listing of an investment company on a U.S. stock exchange, particularly the NYSE, represents a valuable asset, especially in terms of attracting non-U.S. investors. Delisting would save the Trust annual NYSE fees of approximately $32,000; but the absence of a stock exchange listing, combined with the need to issue new Shares when investors wish to increase their holdings, would have the effect of requiring the Trust to pay federal and state fees on sales of Shares, except to the extent that the underwriter of such sales paid some or all of such fees. Any net savings or increased cost to the Trust because of the different expenses would not, however, be expected to materially affect the Trust's expense ratio.

5. Underwriting; Brokerage Commissions or Sales Charges on Purchases and Sales. Open-end investment companies typically seek to sell new shares on a continuous basis in order to offset redemptions and avoid shrinkage in size. Shares of 'load' open-end investment companies are normally offered and sold through a principal underwriter, which deducts a sales charge from the purchase price at the time of purchase or from the redemption proceeds at the time of redemption, or receives a distribution fee from the fund, or both, to compensate it and securities dealers for sales and marketing services (see 'Measures to be Adopted if the Trust Becomes an Open-end Fund -- Underwriting and Distribution' below). Shares of 'no-load' open-end investment companies are sold at NAV, without a sales charge, with the fund's investment adviser or an affiliate normally bearing the cost of sales and marketing from its own resources. Shares of closed-end investment companies, on the other hand, are bought and sold in secondary market transactions at prevailing market prices subject to the brokerage commissions charged by the broker-dealer firms executing such transactions. Except in the case of shares sold pursuant to a dividend reinvestment plan, when a closed-end fund sells newly issued shares, it typically does so in an underwritten public offering in which an underwriting fee of 5% or more is imposed. Except in the case of a rights offering, such sales can be made only at or above the shares' then applicable NAV after the deduction of such an underwriting fee.

6. Shareholder Services. Open-end investment companies typically provide more services to shareholders and may incur correspondingly higher shareholder servicing expenses. One service that is generally offered by open-end funds is enabling shareholders to transfer their investment from one fund into another fund that is part of the same 'family' of open-end funds at little or no cost to the shareholders. The Trust has engaged in no discussions with any family of funds to become a part of such family, and there can be no assurance that the Trust would be able to make such an arrangement if the Shareholders voted to convert the Trust to an open-end fund. If the requisite majority of the Shareholders approve this proposal, the Board of Trustees would weigh the cost of any particular service against the anticipated benefit of such service. The Board of Trustees has no current view as to which, if any, Shareholder services it would seek to make available to Shareholders and implement as part of the Trust's joining a family of funds or otherwise.

7. Leverage. Open-end investment companies are prohibited by the Investment Company Act from issuing 'senior securities' representing indebtedness (i.e., bonds, debentures, notes and other similar securities), other than indebtedness to banks with respect to which there is asset coverage of at least 300% for all borrowings, and may not issue preferred stock. Closed-end investment companies, on the other hand, are permitted to issue senior securities representing indebtedness when the 300% asset coverage test is met, may issue preferred stock subject to a 200% asset coverage test and are not limited to borrowings solely from banks. This greater ability to issue senior securities gives closed-end investment companies more flexibility in 'leveraging' their shareholders' investments than is available to open-end investment companies. This difference is not likely to be of importance with respect to the Trust, however, because the Trust's fundamental investment policies (which may be changed only with Shareholder consent) forbid it to borrow more than 5% of its NAV (a restriction that would continue to apply if the Trust were an open-end fund). Although the Declaration of Trust permits the Board of Trustees to create and issue preferred stock, the trustees have no intention of doing so.

8. Annual Shareholders Meetings. The Trust is organized as a Massachusetts business trust under the terms of the Declaration of Trust. As a closed-end investment company listed on the NYSE, the Trust is required by the rules of the NYSE to hold annual meetings of its Shareholders. This requirement would cease upon a delisting of the Shares from the NYSE. A provision in the Declaration of Trust provides that, if the Trust were converted to an open-end investment company, the Declaration of Trust could be amended to provide that the Trust would no longer be required to hold annual meetings. However, no vote is being sought on such a proposal at this time. If the Trust were no longer required to hold annual meetings of Shareholders, it would still be required by the Investment Company Act to have periodic meetings to approve certain matters and, under certain circumstances, to elect trustees. (See the discussion below under 'Measures to be Adopted if the Trust Becomes an Open-end Fund -- Effect on the Trust's Declaration of Trust.') The Trust would save the cost of annual meetings, which management estimates to be approximately $50,000 per year; however, these savings would not be expected to materially affect the Trust's expense ratio.

9. Reinvestment of Dividends and Distributions. Like the plans of many other closed-end funds, the Trust's Dividend Reinvestment Plan (the 'Plan') permits Shareholders to elect to reinvest their dividends and distributions on a different basis than would be the case if the Trust converted to an open-end investment company. Currently, if the Shares are trading at a discount, the agent for the Plan will attempt to buy as many of the Shares as are needed for this purpose on the NYSE or elsewhere. This permits a reinvesting Shareholder to benefit by purchasing additional Shares at a discount, and this buying activity may tend to lessen any discount. If Shares are trading at a premium, reinvesting Shareholders are issued Shares at the higher of NAV and 95% of the market price. As an open-end investment company, all dividends and distributions would be reinvested at NAV.

10. Capital Gains. The treatment of capital gains required under the Internal Revenue Code (the 'Code') may be disadvantageous to non-redeeming stockholders of an open-end fund. Although the fund's manager may be able to sell portfolio securities at a price that does not reflect a taxable gain in order to raise cash to satisfy redeeming stockholders, a mutual fund that is required to sell portfolio securities may realize a net capital gain if the fund's basis in the portfolio securities sold is less than the sale price obtained. The Code imposes both an income tax and an excise tax on a regulated investment company's net capital gain (regardless of whether the fund is open-end or closed-end) unless the gain is distributed to all stockholders, including non-redeeming stockholders. Furthermore, in order to make a capital gain distribution, a fund may need to sell additional portfolio securities, thereby reducing further its size and, possibly, creating additional capital gain. While, as noted, taxes on such gains are also imposed on closed-end funds, a closed-end fund does not face the possible need to sell appreciated securities in order to raise funds to meet redemption requests.

EFFECT OF CONVERSION ON THE TRUST

In addition to the inherent characteristics of open-end investment companies described above, the Trust's conversion to an open-end investment company would potentially have the consequences described below.

1. Portfolio Management. As noted above, a closed-end investment company operates with a relatively fixed capitalization while the capitalization of an open-end investment company fluctuates depending upon whether it experiences net sales or net redemptions of its shares. Although the data on the subject are unclear, some observers believe that open-end funds tend to have larger net sales near market highs and larger net redemptions near market lows. To the extent that this is true, if the Trust were to convert to an open-end investment company, the Adviser might be faced with a need to invest new monies near market highs and to sell portfolio securities in a falling market when it might otherwise wish to invest. Because the Trust is a closed-end fund, however, the Adviser currently is not required to invest new monies or liquidate portfolio holdings at what may be inopportune times, and can manage the Trust's portfolio with a greater emphasis on long-term considerations.

The Board of Trustees also believes that the closed-end format is better suited than the open-end format to the Trust's investment objective of achieving long-term capital appreciation through investment primarily in publicly traded equity securities of R.O.C. issuers. The Board of Trustees believes that, notwithstanding developments in Taiwan that have had the effect of liberalizing restrictions on investment by foreign investors in the Taiwan securities market, investor psychology towards Taiwan remains susceptible of rapid and extreme swings that would be likely to have a material and unpredictable impact on inflows and outflows from the Trust if it were to become an open-end fund. The Board of Trustees believes that the Adviser can better pursue the Trust's long-term investment objective without short-term pressures to invest new monies or liquidate portfolio holdings at times when the Adviser's investment style would dictate doing otherwise. Furthermore, the Board of Trustees believes that a need for the Trust to maintain some level of cash reserves to fund redemptions could restrict the Trust's ability to remain fully invested in equity securities in circumstances in which the Adviser otherwise thought it advantageous to be so invested.

2. Potential Increase in Expense Ratio and Decrease in Size. Conversion to an open-end investment company would raise the possibility of the Trust suffering substantial redemptions of Shares, particularly in the period immediately following the conversion, although the potential temporary redemption fee of up to 0.50% described below under 'Measures to be Adopted if the Trust Becomes an Open-end Fund' might reduce the number of initial redemptions that would otherwise occur. Unless the Trust's principal underwriter, if any, were able to generate sales of new Shares sufficient to offset these redemptions or the performance of the Trust's investments was sufficiently favorable to offset net redemptions, the size of the Trust would be expected to shrink. (See 'Measures to be Adopted if the Trust Becomes an Open-end Fund -- Underwriting and Distribution.') Because certain of the Trust's operating expenses are fixed and others (including the fees paid by the Trust to the Adviser) decline as a percentage of the Trust's NAV as the NAV increases, a decrease in the Trust's asset size would likely increase the ratio of its operating expenses to its income and net assets and, as a result, decrease the Trust's net income per Share. Such a decrease in size would also result in a reduction in the amount of fees paid by the Trust to the Adviser and could result in a decision by the Board of Trustees to terminate and liquidate the Trust (or by the Adviser not to continue to act as such) if the amount of the Trust's assets were reduced such that it was no longer considered economically feasible for the Trust to continue to carry on business.

3. Possible Sales of Portfolio Securities. If the Trust were to experience substantial redemptions of Shares following its conversion to an open-end investment company, it would probably not have sufficient cash reserves to fund such redemptions and therefore could be required to sell portfolio securities and incur increased transaction costs in order to raise cash to meet such redemptions. Any net gains resulting from sales of portfolio securities effected to fund cash redemption obligations would normally be distributed to all Shareholders, thereby further reducing the size of the Trust, and would be taxable to them. See 'Differences Between Open-end and Closed-end Investment Companies -- Capital Gains' above.

4. Conversion Costs. The process of converting the Trust to an open-end investment company would involve legal and other expenses to the Trust, including the preparation of a registration statement under the Securities Act of 1933 (see 'Measures to be Adopted if the Trust Becomes an Open-end Fund -- Timing' below) and the payment of necessary fees with respect to such registration statement and the sale of Shares in various states. The Board of Trustees has been advised that these conversion expenses, which would be paid by the Trust and would result in a one-time increase in the Trust's current expense ratio, could be expected to total at least $150,000. Because the Trust is unable to determine at this time the actual costs that would be involved, it is possible that the conversion expenses would be substantially higher.

MEASURES TO BE ADOPTED IF THE TRUST BECOMES AN OPEN-END FUND

If the Shareholders voted to convert the Trust to an open-end fund, the Board of Trustees may take the following actions.

1. Redemption Fee. In order to reduce the number of redemptions of the Shares immediately following conversion (thereby reducing any disruption of the Trust's normal portfolio management), and to offset the brokerage and other costs of such redemptions, for a period of up to nine months following the

Trust's conversion to an open-end investment company, the Board of Trustees may decide that the Trust should impose a fee, to be retained by the Trust, of up to 0.50% of the redemption proceeds payable by the Trust on all redemptions. While not required, such a fee would be similar to fees that have been proposed by other funds considering a conversion from closed-end to open-end status.

2. Underwriting and Distribution. If the Shareholders voted to convert the Trust to an open-end investment company, the Board would consider whether to select a principal underwriter of the Shares. The Shares could be offered and sold directly by the Trust itself, and by any other broker-dealers who enter into selling agreements with the principal underwriter. The Trust has engaged in no discussions with prospective principal underwriters, and there can be no assurance regarding whether satisfactory arrangements with a principal underwriter would be achieved. The Board of Trustees reserves the right to cause the Trust to enter into an underwriting agreement with a principal underwriter in such form and subject to such conditions as the Board of Trustees deems desirable. If a principal underwriter were selected, there could be no assurance that any such broker-dealer firms would be able to generate sufficient sales of Shares to offset redemptions, particularly in the initial months following conversion.

3. Effect on the Trust's Declaration of Trust. The Declaration of Trust provides that, if the Shareholders voted to change the Trust's subclassification under the Investment Company Act from a closed-end investment company to an open-end investment company, provisions in the Declaration of Trust (set forth in Exhibit A to this Proxy Statement) would become effective that authorize the issuance of redeemable securities at NAV and provide that the outstanding Shares will be redeemable at the option of the Shareholders. In addition, the Declaration of Trust provides that if the Trust becomes an open-end fund and is no longer required by stock exchange rules to hold annual meetings for the election of trustees, the Board of Trustees may submit a proposal, which may be adopted by vote of a majority of the Trust's outstanding Shares, that the Trust cease to hold annual meetings of its Shareholders and that it eliminate its staggered Board of Trustees. These actions would have the consequence of requiring Shareholders' meetings to be held only when required by the Investment Company Act, either for the election of trustees (if a majority of the trustees in office were not elected by the Shareholders) or to approve specific matters in accordance with the Investment Company Act's requirements.

4. Timing. If the Shareholders voted to convert the Trust to an open-end investment company, a number of steps would be required to implement such conversion, including the preparation, filing and effectiveness of a registration statement under the Securities Act of 1933 covering the offering of the Shares and the negotiation and execution of a new or amended agreement with the Trust's transfer agent. It is anticipated that such conversion would become effective no later than December 31, 2002 and that the discount, if any, at which the Shares trade in relation to their NAV would be reduced in anticipation of the ability to redeem Shares at NAV upon the completion of the conversion. The provisions of the Declaration of Trust set forth in Exhibit A would become effective simultaneously with the effectiveness of the registration statement referred to above under the Securities Act of 1933. If, as noted immediately above in 'Effect on the Trust's Declaration of Trust,' the Board of Trustees submitted, and Shareholders approved, a proposal that the Trust no longer hold annual meetings of Shareholders after becoming an open-end fund, the attendant savings in the cost of holding such meetings (see 'Differences Between Open-end and Closed-end Investment Companies -- Annual Shareholders Meetings') would accrue in the years following such approval.

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES RECOMMENDS THAT SHAREHOLDERS VOTE AGAINST CONVERSION OF THE TRUST FROM A CLOSED-END INVESTMENT COMPANY INTO AN OPEN-END INVESTMENT COMPANY. THE PERSONS NAMED

IN THE ACCOMPANYING PROXY WILL, IN THE ABSENCE OF CONTRARY INSTRUCTIONS, VOTE ALL PROXIES AGAINST THIS PROPOSAL.

MISCELLANEOUS

Proxies will be solicited by mail and may be solicited in person or by telephone or facsimile by officers or employees of the Adviser. The Trust has also retained MacKenzie Partners, Inc. to assist in the solicitation of proxies from Shareholders at an anticipated cost of $8,000 plus reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses. The expenses connected with the solicitation of these proxies and with any further proxies that may be solicited by such officers or employees or by MacKenzie Partners, Inc. in person, by telephone or by facsimile will be borne by the Trust. The Trust will reimburse banks, brokers and other persons holding Shares registered in their names or in the names of their nominees for their expenses incurred in sending proxy material to and obtaining proxies from the beneficial owners of such Shares.

THE TRUST'S ANNUAL REPORT FOR THE YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31, 2001, INCLUDING FINANCIAL STATEMENTS, WAS MAILED ON OR ABOUT FEBRUARY 28, 2002 TO SHAREHOLDERS OF RECORD ON FEBRUARY 28, 2002. HOWEVER, A COPY OF THIS REPORT WILL BE PROVIDED, WITHOUT CHARGE, TO ANY SHAREHOLDER UPON REQUEST. PLEASE CALL 1-800-343-9567 OR WRITE TO THE TRUST AT C/O CITIGATE DEWE ROGERSON, 1440 BROADWAY, 16TH FLOOR, NEW YORK, NEW YORK 10018 TO REQUEST THE REPORT.

In the event that a quorum is not obtained for the transaction of business at the Meeting by June 20, 2002, the persons named as attorneys in the enclosed proxy may propose one or more adjournments of the Meeting to permit further solicitation of proxies in order to obtain such a quorum. Any such adjournment would require the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the Shares voting that are present in person or by proxy at the session of the Meeting to be adjourned. The persons named as attorneys in the enclosed proxy will vote in favor of such adjournment if it is required. The costs of any such additional solicitation and of any adjourned session will be borne by the Trust.

SECTION 16(A) BENEFICIAL OWNERSHIP REPORTING COMPLIANCE

To the knowledge of the Trust, certain individuals or organizations reported below, which during 2001 were affiliated persons (as defined in the Investment Company Act) of the Adviser, did not make timely filings, or failed to make filings, required during or with respect to 2001 by rules of the United States

Securities and Exchange Commission pursuant to Section 30(h) of the Investment Company Act, with respect to holdings of, or transactions during 2001 or prior years in, Shares of the Trust. The Kuomintang, which controls Central Investment Holding Co., Ltd. ('CIHC') and Asia Pacific Holdings Corp. ('Asia Pacific'), affiliated persons of the Adviser, indirectly controls [24.24]% of the Adviser's outstanding voting securities, but has failed to make any filings of Forms 3, 4 or 5. However, CIHC and Asia Pacific did make timely filings (or have provided statements in lieu of required filings). In addition, if CIHC, Asia Pacific and the Kuomintang are deemed to be controlling persons of the Adviser, then persons controlled by CIHC, Asia Pacific or the Kuomintang would be required to file statements on Forms 3, 4 and 5 with respect to ownership of, or transactions in, Shares of the Trust. No such persons have made any such filings. Pedro-Pablo Kuczynski, then a trustee of the Trust, failed to make a timely filing in 2001 on Form 4 with respect to a purchase of Shares of the Trust. Mr. Kuczynski subsequently made the required filing later in 2001. Finally, during 2001 Messrs. Gow Liang Chou, Cheng Hsien Lin, Terfung Tsao and Kun Chen Liao, directors of the Adviser, failed to make timely filings on Form 3 upon their assumption of such positions with the Adviser. Messrs. Chou, Lin, Tsao and Liao subsequently made the required filings; however, they have not engaged in any transactions concerning the Trust's Shares since their appointments and, therefore, were not required to make any filings on Form 4.
