Section 7 Regulation FD

Item 7.01. Regulation FD Disclosure.

We have received inquiries today regarding a lawsuit filed in Tennessee entitled United States of America ex rel Sally Christine Summers v. LHC Group, Inc. This lawsuit was filed by a previously terminated employee of the company and claims a violation of the False Claims Act at a single agency. The employee was terminated in December 2008 for cause, following counseling sessions in accordance with our human resources policy.

The complaint in this case was improperly and illegally filed in public and not under seal as is required by federal law. This is a fatal defect that courts have stated mandates dismissal of the complaint with prejudice. It should also be noted that the government has not intervened in this case and, to our knowledge, has not even considered the facts of the allegations since the case was not filed under seal.

As is customary when any allegation is made, in accordance with our compliance program we initiated a thorough internal review of the allegations. We reviewed the OASIS assessments to determine home-bound status, medical necessity and appropriateness of services provided, including therapy. We concluded based on that review that the proper level of care was provided and necessary. Additionally, we had patient files reviewed by independent therapists who also concluded that therapy was needed. As a result of these procedures, we determined the allegations were without merit.

LHC Group maintains a compliance program that includes a hotline for each employee to call if they have compliance concerns. This hotline has been operated since 2004 by Global Compliance Services, a third party nationally recognized vendor. Upon being hired, each employee is provided education regarding the hotline and this is supplemented by annual compliance training. At no time did the company receive any complaints on the hotline from this former employee or anyone else associated with this provider.

Although the company has not yet been served with this lawsuit, we intend to take every action possible to seek a dismissal of this matter as quickly as possible.
